R.A.F. FLIERS ATTACK GERMANY AND ITALY

PUBLIC BUILDINGS ON WILHELMSTRASSE ARE TARGETS OF BOMBERS

While Air Ministry at London Reports That Successful Attacks Upon a Number of Important Military Objectives in Axis Territories, Nazi Warplanes Flock Back Over Britain Renewing Almost Night-long Assaults That Kept Millions Awake During "Chain System" Raids

BERLIN'S 4,000,000 RESIDENTS EXPERIENCE SECOND ALARM IN TWO DAYS LASTING AN HOUR

By The Associated Press

British RAF bombers attacked both Germany and Italy in far-ranging sorties before dawn today, and BBC, the official British radio, said that government buildings along the Wilhelmstrasse in Berlin—where Adolf Hitler's chancellery is situated—have been among the targets bombed.

In London, the air ministry reported that the Royal Air Force "delivered a successful attack upon a number of important military objectives" in the Axis territories. Six tons of RAF bombs were dumped in 40 minutes on Italian industrial targets, the air ministry said. The Italian high command acknowledged that British "night hawk" raiders scored hits on the great Fiat plane and tank factory at Turin and attacked other points in the face of "violent air and anti-aircraft reaction." One British bomber was reported shot down in an attempted attack on Milan, in northern Italy.

Nazi warplanes flocked back over Britain this morning, renewing almost night-long assaults which kept London's millions awake during a six-hour "chain system" raid ending at 3:40 a. m.

Few casualties and little damage was reported in the German night raids which saw Nazi bombers some flying at a height of 20,000 feet, attacking singly or in small groups.

HUNDREDS DEAD IN RUMANIAN BORDER CLASH

Budapest, Aug. 27.—(P)—Diplomatic dispatches from Bucharest today reported a bloody clash between Rumanian and Russian troops, resulting in hundreds dead on both sides and the loss of at least two fighting planes.

The fighting, which the dispatches said occurred just north of Dorohoi, in northern Moldavia, was reported to have started late Sunday.

WILLKIE PLANS 7000 MILE TOUR

BY THEODORE F. KOOP
New York, Aug. 27.—(P)—After expanding his criticism of the Roosevelt defense program with a demand for an end to "bunk and conversation," Wendell L. Willkie gave his approval today to an augmented western campaign tour which will carry him 7,000 miles.

The itinerary as announced by Republican presidential headquarters calls for a half dozen major speeches in the last 17 days of September, interspersed with 60 to 70 radio platform appearances and brief talks in 18 states.

Willkie issued his latest denunciation of preparedness plans at a press conference yesterday by advocating that President Roosevelt delegate substantial authority to the National Defense Advisory Commission and designate one member as chairman.

The nominee's schedule called for his return by plane late today to Rushville, Ind., where he will set up temporary headquarters. He expects to remain in and around Rushville until September 4, when his western tour will begin.

Bulletins From European Capitals

Berlin, Aug. 27.—(P)—Informed sources said tonight Germany might arbitrate in the Hungarian-Rumanian territorial dispute over Transylvania, possibly with Italian aid.

Berlin, Aug. 27.—(P Via Radio)—The German radio said today the United States embassy would take over the interests here of the Union of South Africa, British dominion, beginning September 1. This work has been done by the Swedish legation.

London, Aug. 27.—(P)—German bombers attacked a convoy of ships off the coast of Scotland for more than an hour today. Persons on shore saw the brilliant flashes and heard the roar of naval guns as the planes swooped for the attack.

London, Aug. 27.—(P)—Tyler Kent, former clerk at the United States embassy here, and Anna Wolkoff, daughter of a former Russian minister, were committed for trial at Old Bailey today at the conclusion of a hearing on charges of violating the official secrets act.

Budapest, Aug. 27.—(P)—Negotiations over Hungary's demands in the Rumanian province of Transylvania will be resumed at Turnu-Severin Thursday, it was disclosed in official quarters today.

Bern, Switzerland, Aug. 27.—(P)—The Swiss government today asked Great Britain to "immediately and scrupulously" enforce orders given to the Royal Air Force to cease alleged continued violations of Swiss territory in flights to Italy.

Final Vote on Conscription Expected Tonight

Duluth Entertaining Hay Fever Sufferers

Duluth, Minn., Aug. 27.—(P)—Hay fever sufferers of the nation are becoming increasingly irritated by the thing called rag-weed and at the opening session of their national convention here last night labeled it a "national menace."

Drawn to this northern resort city because of the relief offered by its pollen-free air, hay fever victims from 32 states called upon the federal government to take a hand in the eradication, not only of rag-weed, but of all "noxious and harmful weeds."

In a resolution addressed to the secretary of agriculture and to the Federal Bureau of Public Roads, the Hay Fever Club of America, Inc., urged that "immediate steps be taken leading to the early eradication of noxious weeds from public highways of the nation."

Usual Tranquility of Western Oregon Farming City Of Salem Gives Way to Bands and Throngs of Visitors For Notification Ceremonies

CONFERS WITH LEADERS

Salem, Ore., Aug. 27.—(P)—The usual tranquility of this western Oregon farming city gave way today to bands and a visiting crowd expected to total over 50,000 persons, gathered for Senator Charles L. McNary's acceptance of the Republican vice-presidential nomination.

The crowd began arriving early by train and automobile amid decorated streets. Hotels were filled to capacity and restaurants reported a "land office" business. Business men estimated that 80,000 persons were in the city, compared to the usual 30,000.

In contrast to the excitement that prevailed in the city, peace and quiet was still in order at Fir Cone, McNary's country home, where he has hosted the past three days. He said he felt "fit as a fiddle."

The nominee planned conferences with Rep. Joseph Martin, Republican national chairman; Gov. Harold Stassen of Minnesota and other party leaders in the forenoon. A luncheon under Fir Cone's stately trees was slated for the afternoon, with 100 newspapermen and members of the notification committee attending.

EXTENSION OF DREAM HIGHWAY IS ADVOCATED

Pittsburgh, Aug. 27.—(P)—Representatives of the federal and state governments, enthusiastically praised the $70,000,000 "dream" highway after an inspection of its speed and safety features, gave attention today to Pennsylvania's next objective—extension of the super-road to Philadelphia.

NOMINEE COMING TO PENN'A HARRIS SAYS

Pittsburgh, Aug. 27.—(P)—Frank J. Harris, Allegheny county Republican chairman, said today Wendell L. Willkie had assured him in a conference in New York yesterday that he would come to Pittsburgh for a campaign address.

The Republican presidential candidate was unable to set a date for his trip here, Harris said, but efforts are being made to schedule the visit before Willkie begins his midwestern tour on September 14. The address here may contain the candidate's views on labor policies, Harris indicated.

Black Sky Becomes a Garden of Unimaginably Tall Flowers, Usually Swaying in Clusters With Searchlight Beams as Stems

FEELINGS ARE MIXED

BY MILO M. THOMPSON
Associated Press Foreign Writer
London, Aug. 27.—(P)—Half of metropolitan London's population had to ask this morning how long the night's air raid lasted.

They had given up the show and gone to bed—missing the all clear signal—while theatre goers staged song fests and dances.

How can one go to bed while the grinding beat of a German bomber still overhead comes to the ears? At any moment a blast might end your existence.

But so might a bolt of lightning in any thunderstorm.

You think of the odds, shrug and turn in.

Watching the show wears you like sitting at a grand fourth of July display for hours—and then having to see it all over again.

You give up, knowing there will be other shows.

For those who do watch there is a horrid splendor about these night raids.

Your feelings are mixed. For short periods you feel that you personally are the hunted one—but most of the time it is the fellow somewhere up above who is hunted.

POISON DEATHS BEING PROBED

Towanda, Aug. 27.—(P)—Double funeral services were held today for a man and wife as Coroner A. E. Dunn sought to determine whether their deaths and the sickening of six other persons was caused by poisoned food.

George Pennell, 56, of Orwell township, died Saturday. His wife, Josephine, 51, died yesterday.

In hospitals in Binghamton, N. Y., and Sayre, Pa., are their daughter-in-law, Mrs. Leon Pennell, her three small children, J. Ralph Benjamin, 23, and David Pennell, 54, brother of the dead man. Physicians said all were in "fair" condition.

The daughter-in-law and her children came to Orwell Saturday night after learning of George Pennell's death and all became ill after eating Sunday breakfast.

The coroner said a rodent poison may have been accidentally become mixed with some pancake flour.

Conceding Variations in Government Figures, the White House Calls for Defense Commission Report Which it is Claimed Will Present a "Reconciliation Estimate" of Ships Already Ordered By War and Navy Heads

ACTION ON IMPORTANT MATTERS ANTICIPATED

Washington, Aug. 27.—(P)—Conceding variations in government warplane figures, the White House called today for a defense commission report which it said would present a "reconciliation estimate" on planes already ordered.

This estimate, Stephen Early told reporters, would explain various estimates made by the War, Navy and Treasury departments, the defense commission, and by Senator Byrd (D-Va.).

The White House press secretary said that John H. Biggers, acting head of industrial production of the commission, who would supply the report later today, had asserted it would "largely substantiate" the commission report yesterday which said that 6,724 planes of all types were under contract as of August 17.

Senator Byrd said yesterday, however, that he had received letters from War Secretary Stimson and Navy Secretary Knox which declared that only 343 combat planes had been ordered in the last 100 days. He contended that defense preparations "are lagging to such an extent that our national security is menaced."

Early said the Biggers' report would clear up the situation, adding: "The fact is the defense (Turn to Page Nine)

COMBINATION TAX IS REPORTED TO HOUSE

Washington, Aug. 27.—(P)—A combination excess profits tax and amortization bill long urged as essential for accelerating defense preparations—was reported to the House today with the unanimous approval of its ways and means committee.

After a protracted deadlock over some of the measure's provisions, the committee reached agreement late yesterday, and leaders were hopeful that the House would pass the bill before the end of the week.

AIMS OUTLINED BY GOV. JAMES IN ERIE ADDRESS

Erie, Aug. 27.—(P)—The aim of the James administration, according to the governor himself, is to reestablish "some of the common sense theories of the past generation."

The governor, in making this observation before 300 Erie business men at a Chamber of Commerce gathering yesterday, contrasted his administration with that of the Roosevelt administration, which he claimed is "tipping up the guiding posts of economy and good government."

Then he elaborated as follows: "The greatest mistake this generation has made is listening to tell them the centralization of power can solve their problems instead of going ahead and solving their own problems."

"We have tried to do in Harrisburg during the past 18 months what private business does. If business has a payroll to meet, the company must show earnings. Business doesn't pay dividends out of capital. Neither does good government pay out dividends on borrowed money. Yet our nation has been financed during the past eight years on borrowing."

"Business is not entitled to privileges just because it is business, nor must it be throttled. Labor must work with business and government must assist both."

DISCUSSES COUGHLIN
New York, Aug. 27.—(P)—Wendell L. Willkie said he did not want the support of the Rev. Charles E. Coughlin if he understood correctly that the radio priest is opposed to certain people in this country because of their race or religion.

Here's Hot Tip on the Date for Thanksgiving

Pomona, Calif., Aug. 27.—(P)—The Chamber of Commerce wanted to know whether Thanksgiving would be a week earlier again this year, so Secretary Edward B. Kennedy wrote to President Roosevelt.

He explained that Pomona merchants were planning ahead for their annual "Christmas preview" of merchandise.

The president's secretary, Stephen Early, replied "the president proposed to designate Thursday, Nov. 21, as Thanksgiving Day this year."

So the Pomona preview will be held on "old-style Thanksgiving Day," Nov. 28.

INQUEST HELD MONDAY AT THE STATE HOSPITAL

Coroner's Jury Recommends That Steps Be Taken to Have Erie County Patient Transferred to Institution For Criminal Insane

MANY ARE QUESTIONED

A coroner's jury inquiring into the death of Dan Harper, 42, of Crawford county, an inmate of the Warren State Hospital, who died last Wednesday afternoon, yesterday found that he met his death directly or indirectly as a result of an altercation with another patient, Ricka Pieretti, 19, of Erie county.

The jury recommended that the local hospital superintendent petition to the court of Erie county to make an order transferring Pieretti from the Warren State Hospital to "an institution for insane persons with criminal tendencies."

The jury, Coroner Ed C. Lowrey and District Attorney Joseph H. Goldstein examined staff members, attendants and two patients in a three-hour session at the hospital yesterday afternoon.

It was definitely established that just prior to Harper's death he and Pieretti had an argument over a chair at the table where the patients in the ward were about to eat. The attendant had stepped into the kitchen to carve the meat and was informed by a patient that the two men were arguing. He returned to the hall and saw Pieretti and Harper pushing and shoving at close quarters and separated the two, putting Pieretti in a chair. When the attendant turned, Harper was lying on the floor, apparently in an epileptic seizure. The patient was laid on a bench and before medical aid could reach him, died.

Coroner Lowrey was summoned and impelled a jury composed of Luke J. Noecker, Mike Blech, Norton Bowler, Myron Jewell, P. Howard Potts and William E. Rice.

An autopsy showed that the direct cause of Harper's death was cerebral hemorrhage caused by a fracture of the skull. Whether the fracture was caused by the fall or by a blow could not definitely be determined, and there was no outward evidence of injury.

Witnesses examined by the jury included K. F. Knorr and Richard Stamer, attendants, Dr. H. M. Brickhouse, Dr. A. A. Kippen, Dr. R. H. Israel, superintendent, Dr. Leonard Rosenzweig, R. C. A. Harrah, X-ray technician and two patients.

The text of the jury's verdict follows:

OVERTIME SESSIONS ARE HELD

Majority Leader Barkley in Statement Expresses Confidence Senate Will Reject by "Comfortable" Margins Three Proposals To Postpone Draft and Send Measure to House In Almost Original Form

JOHNSON CALLS IT A BILLION DOLLAR WASTE

Washington, Aug. 27.—(P)—Quickly lining up with the Senate, the house military committee voted today to limit to 900,000 the number of men who could be given military training at any one period during peace time under the Burke-Wadsworth conscription bill.

Chairman May (D-Ky.) announced that the vote was "pretty one-sided." He predicted that the committee would approve the entire draft legislation later in the day.

The committee also inserted in the draft bill the reemployment provisions of legislation authorizing a year's training for National guardsmen.

Senator Johnson (D-Colo.) opposed peace time military conscription today as a "waste" of $1,000,000,000 annually while advocates confidently predicted final senate passage tonight.

Senator Burke (D-Neb.), co-author of the selective training bill, told reporters, "we'll pass this before we quit tonight," and Chairman Sheppard (D-Tex.) of the senate military committee supported the forecast.

Johnson, one of the few members of the military committee opposed to the Burke-Wadsworth bill, told reporters, "We hate Mr. Hitler, but we are about to strike our precious liberty a death blow by adopting his Prussian ideology of conscription. I can see the smirk on his cold expressionless face as the United States stabs democracy in the back because of him."

Before Senator Johnson started his speech, Senator Smathers (D-N.J.) criticized congress for "two months of speech-making" on the (Turn to Page Nine)

Primaries Are Being Held in Three States

By The Associated Press
Senator Hiram Johnson, in his toughest political contest in 24 years, sought nomination on the Republican, Democratic and Progressive party tickets today in California's primary election.

The veteran Republican senator was opposed by three on the Republican ballot, five on the Democratic and one on the Progressive.

Mississippi and South Carolina had Democratic primaries today.

In Mississippi, the chief race was between Senator Theodore G. Bilbo, up for renomination, and former Governor Hugh White.

No statewide office was at stake in South Carolina but a concurrent referendum on whether to continue licensed liquor stores created interest, extending beyond the state's boundaries. The referendum would be advisory for the legislature.

Uncle Sam Tackles Job of Enrolling Every Alien in United States and Its Possessions

Harrisburg, Aug. 27.—(P)—Registration of 350,000 to 400,000 aliens in Pennsylvania started at postoffices throughout the state today with the help of information gathered by state authorities.

William B. Douglas, who was placed in charge of a State Bureau for registering non-citizens, said all preliminary information assembled by the Department of Labor and Industry was turned over to the federal government to aid in the nation-wide enrollment under a federal act.

Washington, Aug. 27.—(P)—Uncle Sam tackled the job today of enrolling every alien in the United States and its possessions.

(Turn to Page Nine)

1,099 IN COUNTY
Official state estimates on the alien population by counties give Warren county 1,099, Venango 898, Crawford 1,358 and Erie 8,513.

The order to register went out to all non-citizens—to the young, the old, the lame, even to incompetents. The only exceptions were diplomatic or other representatives of foreign governments and their families.

An estimated 3,600,000 non-citizens are required to register and be fingerprinted before Dec. 1.

COUNTERFEIT BILL
State and federal authorities are tracing a counterfeit five-dollar bill passed at the McLellan store on Fraley street in Kane yesterday morning. It was stated that the bill was passed innocently by two men from a St. Marys convent. The counterfeit was said to be a "fairly good" imitation of a five-dollar bill. Examination under a magnifying glass, however, showed the engraving to be poor.

COUNTERFEITER HELD
A message has been received over the police teletype, filed by Massachusetts state police at North Adams saying that they are holding a man giving his name as Merle L. JUMP HAIR CUT PRICE

The price of hair cuts will be jumped from forty to fifty cents in Corry beginning September first.

FARMINGTON FAIR

Plans for the annual Farmington Fair are progressing rapidly and all will be in readiness for its gala opening Friday, September 6.

REMOVED HOME

George Barans, of Youngsville, who had been a patient at the Corry hospital the past few days, was removed to his home Sunday afternoon.

ILL IN HOSPITAL

Friends will be sorry to learn that Miss Irene Taft, Lexington avenue, is a patient in the Jamestown General Hospital.

GIVEN LONG TERM

At Erie yesterday John Kephart, of Woodland, convicted of attempted rape, received a five-year penitentiary sentence from Judge Miles B. Kitts.

BAND TO DUBOIS

It was announced this morning that the Warren Salvation Army band will go to DuBois on Labor Day to participate in the parade which will be a feature of that city's holiday celebration.

SEAT SALE LIMITED

The box seat sale in Warren for the Chicago Bears vs. Pittsburgh Steelers Friday night will close Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock. However, the general admission tickets will be sold until 6 p. m. Friday. Tickets can be obtained at Geracimos store, Count's Restaurant and the B. & B. Smoke Shop.

ELECT TEACHER

Election of J. Stewart Johnston, of Indiana, Pa., to teach social studies and mathematics in Kane High School was announced yesterday by Superintendent G. H. Rickert. He will succeed Lawrence McKnight, who resigned to become a member of the faculty of Brookville High School.

CROPS NOT DAMAGED

The State Department of Agriculture reports that an unseasonably cold wave in Pennsylvania during the past week has caused little damage to crops. John H. Light, secretary of agriculture, reports that the cold weather had caused little damage with the only possible loss likely to result from frost.

PASTOR RESIGNS

Resignation of Rev. Arthur J. Marbot, pastor of the First Presbyterian church in Kane for the past sixteen years, was read to the congregation at Sunday school Sunday. Rev. Marbot is in Vermont on a vacation and is not expected to return to Kane until September and his future plans are not known.

COUNTERFEIT BILL

State and federal authorities are tracing a counterfeit five-dollar bill passed at the McLellan store on Fraley street in Kane yesterday morning. It was stated that the bill was passed innocently by two men from a St. Marys convent. The counterfeit was said to be a "fairly good" imitation of a five-dollar bill. Examination under a magnifying glass, however, showed the engraving to be poor.

COUNTERFEITER HELD

A message has been received over the police teletype, filed by Massachusetts state police at North Adams saying that they are holding a man giving his name as Merle L. Kelley, 38, and giving his address as Gloversville, N. Y., and Kane, and a woman identified as Rose Lorenzo, 20, believed to be of Buffalo, who, according to the police, had several hundred allegedly counterfeit $5 and $10 bills with them. They were riding in a coupe bearing Pennsylvania license tags and having New York license plates inside.

BROADCAST TONIGHT

The fair grounds at Salem, Ore., are cleared for the first of two political highlight broadcasts of the week—the notification ceremonies for Senator McNary, Republican candidate for vice president. The ceremonies begin at 8:30 p. m., but only MBS will pick them up at that time. WEAF-NBC will come on at nine for the last half-hour. McNary will be introduced by Gov. Harold Stassen, of Minnesota, assisted by Ralph Cake, Oregon member of the G. O. P. national committee.

POSITIONS OPEN

The United States Civil Service Commission has announced open competitive examinations for positions as follows: assistant marketing specialist and junior specialist in the Department of Agriculture; specialist in conference planning, Federal Security Agency; physical director, United States Veterans Administration; physiotherapy aide and junior aide, Public Health Service; senior scientific aide (taxidermy) United States National Museum, mimeograph operator for appointment in Washington, D. C. Full information as to the requirements for these examinations and application forms may be obtained from W. U. McMichael, secretary of the Board of U. S. Civil Service Examiners, at the post office in Warren.

CADDY TOURNAMENT

Despite the rain the caddies of the Conewango Valley Country Club today held their annual tournament for prizes donated by the members. Lunch was served the bag-toters following the 18-hole round played this morning.

CORNPLANTER KIN

A letter was received today by the Times-Mirror from George C. Root, a son of John Abel O'Bail and Mary Krouts, and a direct descendant of Chief Cornplanter. Root's father's first wife was Alliquipp, Seneca princess of the Turtle clan. The Cornplanter kin is now living in Syracuse and was much interested in the adoption ceremonies which took place at the reservation on Saturday.

IMPROVE HOTEL

An extensive improvement program designed to make it one of the most modern hotels in the section is now underway at the Arlington Hotel in Oil City. The project includes renovation of the lobby and halls and rooms and furnishing rooms for merchandise display and for private dinners and parties. The plans also call for a cocktail lounge in the back lobby. The Arlington is managed by R. C. Malone, formerly of Warren.

IS 90 YEARS OLD

Robert D. Locke, well known Titusville resident, who as a boy of 12 years, worked as a pulley boy on the famous Drake oil well, yesterday celebrated his 90th birthday anniversary at his home, 314 Main street, Titusville. Mr. Locke was born in Dalton, N. H., and came with his family to Titusville in 1860. They located on the property near the Drake well and in 1862 moved to the property where the well was drilled and lived there for a number of years.

YOUNG WAR VETERAN

According to an Erie paper Ray Hunter, celebrating his fortieth birthday Friday, believes he is the youngest veteran of World War No. 1 in Erie county. He was 17 years old when he walked into the recruiting station office in Warren, Pa., in 1917 and signed up for what he believed then would be a long war. "They used to kid about those enlistments after we got in the army. They'd say we must have got our patriotism mixed up with our ignorance. We thought that was funny then. But I'd do the same thing over again," Hunter, who resides at 309 West 11th street, said.

CANCELS CONTRACT

The city of Bradford will cancel its contract with the Boston National League Baseball club, leasing the Community Park for use by the Bradford Bees, at the close of the present season. Action was taken by Bradford council at an executive session yesterday afternoon. City Solicitor Francis M. Nash suggested the action, stating in a letter "This suggestion is made for the reason that the Boston Bees' management seems quite uninterested not only with the local team, but with the conduct of the league with special reference to its officials and administration so far as Bradford's best interests are concerned." Bradford newspapers not long ago complained editorially that the Boston management was not providing the junior Bees with top notch players.

FESTIVAL OF DISNEY HITS AT THE COLUMBIA WED., THURS. AND FRI.

Romance, high comedy, pathos, excitement, color of breath-taking beauty and tuneful music! Mix them all together and you have the flavor of the Great Walt Disney Festival which is playing at the Columbia Theatre this week.
As a popular innovation this all-Disney program is being presented as a national release through RKO Radio. No program of Walt Disney classics would be complete without that never-to-be-forgotten full-length production "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs," which is the feature attraction in the Festival. In addition to "Snow White," the theatre is also presenting as part of the unit four classic Disney features: "Ferdinand the Bull," the Three Little Pigs in "The Practical Pig," "The Ugly Duckling" and "Donald's Lucky Day."

Jimmy Dorsey Coming To Bemus Point Casino

Jimmy Dorsey and his orchestra, one of the top dance and entertainment attractions of 1940, has been booked for the pleasure of dancers at the Bemus Point Casino on Friday night of this week. Dancing is from nine to one, standard time.
Dorsey and his 17 top artists have just completed a long engagement at the Hotel Pennsylvania, from where his music was frequently broadcast.
In his band, the great saxophonist features Bob Eberly, singer of romantic lyrics; Helen O'Connell and Buddy Schutz, the latter at the drums.
Advance tickets have been placed on sale at Turner's Radio Shop.

REGISTRATION OF ALIENS IS STARTED TODAY

The registration of all aliens residing in the United States began today at first and second class post offices and post offices of county seats and will continue through December 26.

The local post office began registrations this afternoon at one o'clock, and it was announced by Postmaster James K. Bell that the board will receive registrations each day except Sunday from 1:00 to 5:00 p. m. and Saturdays from 9:00 a. m. until noon.

All aliens who have not received their final citizenship papers are required to register, filling out the forms completely and returning them as soon as possible to the board. Sample forms are available at all post offices.

All aliens over 14 years of age will be fingerprinted and required to answer 15 questions. Parents must answer nine questions regarding children under 14 who need not be fingerprinted.

Aliens who are too infirm or aged to go to the post office for registration are requested to write the postmaster and arrangements will be made for an interview.

Aliens are reminded that failure to register makes them liable for fines up to $1,000 and six months in jail, and giving false information is also likely to bring a fine and cost to the offender.

McKenney On Bridge

"POKER BRIDGE" WITHOUT RULES IS SURE TO LOSE

This is the first of our series of articles showing that it does not pay to play poker bridge.

BY WM. E. MCKENNEY
America's Card Authority

One of the first rules we learn in bridge is the Rule of Eleven, by which the lead of the fourth best of our longest, and strongest suit tells partner the number of cards in the suit held by declarer higher than the one led.

The contract on today's hand was a normal one and West opened a club, the correct suit; he decided, however, that he would not lead fourth best, but would "fool the declarer" by leading the deuce, East won with the ace, and, of course, figured that South held four clubs and that a club continuation was hopeless. He led the king of hearts.

Declarer won and finessed the jack of diamonds, which East correctly ducked. A spade was led from dummy, South finessing the ten-spot. West won and returned a heart, but it was too late. Declarer was bound to make four spades, two hearts, two diamonds and a club.

Had the seven of clubs been led by West, East would have known that declarer held only three clubs, and would have returned the club immediately. Then the contract could have been defeated easily.

You Can't Win If You Mislead Your Partner

This is the second of our series of articles showing that it does not pay to play poker bridge.

BY WM. E. MCKENNEY
America's Card Authority

One of the most important rules in the play of the hand is never to false-card your partner. Remember that the declarer knows the adverse high cards, and need worry only about their exact location; but if you fool your partner on a play, it may result in a costly play on his part.

In today's hand for example, North opened the deuce of hearts against the four-spade contract. South wanted to be fancy, so he didn't win the trick with the king, which would tell his partner that he may also hold the ace. South won with the ace, deliberately indicating that he did not have the king. North naturally then placed the king of hearts in the West hand.

It would not have been so bad if South had continued with a heart but no—he led the jack of spades. East won and returned the deuce of diamonds, the jack was finessed and North won with the queen.

North could see that declarer was going to make three diamond tricks. He had credited West with the king of hearts because of South's bad play. Remembering South's opening bid, North believed that, not holding the king of hearts, South should have the ace of clubs. So in an attempt to defeat the contract, North led his king of clubs only to have it trapped. Thus declarer was given the opportunity to make an impossible contract.

BY WM. E. MCKENNEY
America's Card Authority

Do you play "poker bridge." William E. McKenney, Times-Mirror bridge expert, wants to know. Do you bid anything you want, play any card you like, with complete disregard of rules and conventions? Don't—warns Mr. McKenney—if you ever expect to enjoy bridge or to become a good bridge player. And you'll get into trouble, antagonize your partners if you forget the rules. In a series of six articles beginning today, the authority shows why it does not pay to play "poker bridge."

INTERESTING FACTS ABOUT WARREN GENERAL HOSPITAL

Most of us regard the hospital as something completely detached from the community—a remote little world all of its own, having very little effect upon the business life of the town.

In reality Warren General Hospital is a local business whose annual expenditures account for $40,542 in the city of Warren alone. A heavy percentage of all supplies purchased by the hospital are secured in Warren. However there are a number of specialized articles where the supply is limited to only a few distant cities and these articles must be gotten out of Warren.

To fully picture the volume of business that General Hospital accounts for here, one must add to the $40,542 spent for supplies, $60,285.00 paid out last year in salaries to men and women living in Warren. This in turn finds its way to the butcher, the baker, the gasoline dealer and a host of other local business men.

Altogether 68 different local business houses participated in the $40,542 spent here for supplies.

LIFE IS COMPLICATED—IN BERLIN

Next Sunday will mark the first anniversary of the European war. During this period many changes have come to life in Berlin. A story, written for the Special News Service of the Associated Press and the Times-Mirror, by Angus M. Thuermer, gives an interesting picture of what it means to live in the German capital today.

"Nearly a year of war has put the check-rein on normal civilian life in Germany," Thuermer says. "Restrictions necessary for the successful continuation of war activities pop out at you from the most unexpected corners."

"First of all, there's that blackout. Really most persons would feel sort of ashamed and theatrical—after spending 12 months in the evening dark—to have to step out under a brilliant street lamp."

"Eyes have become so accustomed to struggling around in the dark that the business in phosphorescent buttons has dropped off to nil."

"Then there is the taxi situation. Woe betide you if you get into a taxi without an iron-clad, double-barreled reason. Tired feet don't count. Rushing over to see a sick aunt might get you by—maybe, maybe."

"Now considering foods in restaurants—there is caviar and vodka to be had. At caviar and vodka prices, we mean. That's without food tickets, though, so it's something to consider."

"On the other hand, if you are thinking of sitting down in a restaurant, or out on the sidewalk cafe, and letting your phantasy roam, ordering the way you did 'way back in '38, you've got another thought coming. But the good burger is broken in to the meat, butter, bread and what-have-you coupons."

"The English censor lot of journals, too, they say, headed for the Reich."

"And one more thing about the black outs—if you're a second-story man and get caught practicing your profession in the blackout—it's no hemstitch-a-hanky for three months—they make you a head shorter."

"But on the whole the almost never failing Prussian ability to make things click keeps everybody smiling and every tummy full. The fact the 'fellow on the other side' may be having a few pinches here and there, too, makes everyone willing to hitch up the belt a couple of notches."

"It's war."

EATING MORE MEAT

Warren housewives may not realize it, but increased buying of beef and pork by them, along with a few million other women, has helped to lift the farm price of cattle to the highest level in three years and of hogs to the highest in almost a year.

Livestock men at Chicago say that business stimulation and employment resulting from the national defense program apparently are improving the meat consumer's buying power. They cite army maneuvers in various sections of the country as a factor in improved consumption.

On the other hand, housewives probably know better than any others that they are paying more for most meat cuts than they did a year ago. Retail prices at Chicago last week on the whole were the highest of the year. Wholesale pork loins are the highest since last September. Top loins of beef are said to be 25 per cent higher than a year ago.

National Guardsmen are home from three weeks' rigorous training. The boys are deserving of every consideration and of praise for their strenuous work in the defense problem on which they are engaged.

If you are in search of diversion to get your mind off world affairs, take a run down to Youngsville the next three days and attend the community fair.

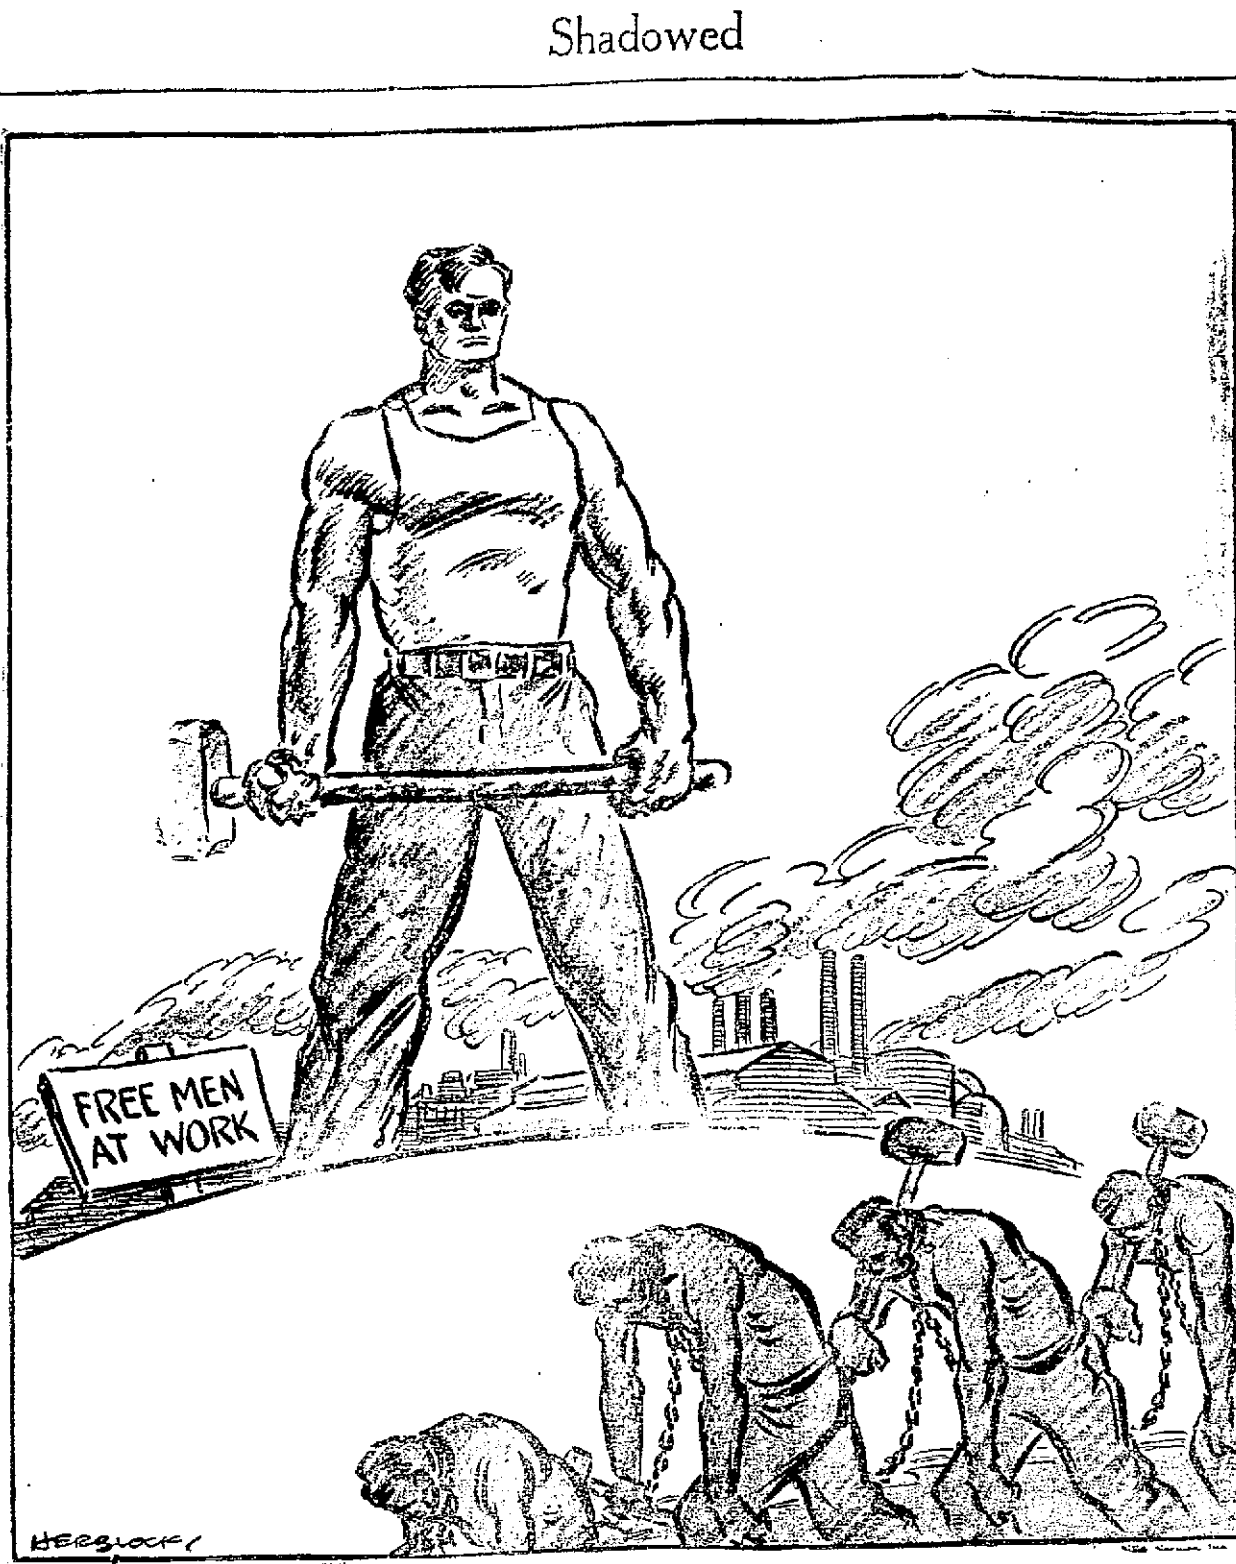

That accident at the Columbus underpass should be a warning to motorists who insist upon disregarding driving conditions and highway regulations.

Dispatches indicate that London could use some of that fog regarding which we used to read so much.

T-H-O-U-G-H-T-S

And the Lord will take away from thee all sickness, and will put none of the evil diseases of Egypt, which thou knowest, upon thee: but will lay them upon all them that hate thee.—Deuteronomy 7:15.

Serving God with our little, is the way to make it more; and we must never think that wasted with which God is honored, or men are blessed.—John Hall.

A Washington Daybook

By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON—Topics for a capital tea-party:

Jumbled politics—Big Ed (Edmund M.) Toland, Democrat, one-time G-man, former assistant United States attorney general, and contributor to the Democratic party in 1932, winds up his job as general counsel of Virginia Rep. Howard W. Smith's committee investigating the National Labor Relations board and leaves Washington with a Willie button on his lapel.

Working without compensation, Toland has steered the committee through hearings which now total 26 volumes (eight to nine million words) and included examination of nearly a million documents.

He says his work is done, that his personal affairs need attention, that he is displeased that the administration has been lethargic to NLRB reforms (the Smith amendments to the National Labor Relations act passed the House more than two months ago, still are awaiting action in the Senate) and that he's going out to do anything he can from making speeches to pushing doorbells for Willie.

Hopkins Loses Aide

ED NOBLE, Republican manufacturer of that candy with a hole, left a hole in Secretary Harry Hopkins' Department of Commerce when he resigned as under-secretary. Noble announced that he was returning to private life where he believed he "could better serve the defense program" than as chief departmental aide to Hopkins, who has been for some time one of the President's chief aides in matters political.

Although Hopkins held the reins in the presidential third term nomination at Chicago, political chatter has it that he is not continuing (as is customary) in the driver's seat and that Edward J. Flynn, new chairman of the Democratic National Committee, has let it be known that he doesn't want any back-seat driving from Hopkins or any other members of the New Deal inner circle.

Corcoran Starts Talk

TOMMY CORCORAN, the young ballad-singing Irish attorney, who has been second to Hopkins among New Dealers close to the White House, has gone off on a vacation. His going at this time is one of the favorite gossip topics at Washington tea parties.

The speculation runs these three ways: (1) That he definitely is out of favor at the White House and may not come back to Washington; (2) that he is going through another one of those periods of being temporarily in disfavor over some minor difference of opinion; (3) that he is NOT in disfavor at all and has only gone away for a while to rest up and figure out how best he can put his talents to use in the President's behalf between now and election.

Strange Things

ADD to these factors these strange things: (1) Republican Presidential Candidate Wendell L. Willkie, a former Democrat, in his acceptance speech at Elwood, Ind., endorsed many of the New Deal objectives; (2) the Democratic vice-presidential candidate, Henry A. Wallace, is a former Republican, who once was publicly rebuked (by a White House spokesman) for declaring for a third term for Roosevelt; (3) President Roosevelt's cabinet contains two Republicans; (4) the National Defense Commission and its staff member many Republicans; (5) there have been many defections from the Democratic party recently; and (6) some New Dealers are saying that this is a good thing for the Democratic party and that the third term candidacy has accomplished for the party much that the 1938 purge was unable to do.

PUT all of those facts and speculations into a Washington drawing room, add a generous sprinkling of political kibitzers' guesses and know-alls, and you'll understand why capital tea parties these days are a dissonant and confusing babble.

YEARS AGO IN WARREN

Interesting Items Taken From the Warren Evening Times

In 1920

Pennants and lights were strung through General Joseph Warren Park this morning by the operators who are "pulling out" the town for the big celebration of 100th Home Week, the 125th anniversary of Warren.

The Soda and Mineral Water Co. is moving into the new building just completed on Main avenue. The present quarters of the plant on Hickory street will probably be occupied by the New Process Company.

J. W. Elliott, county chairman of the Democratic Party, today gave out a statement regarding information for women who will vote for the first time in 1920.

Burgess Gregory has announced that throwing of confetti and other stuff of like nature will not be permitted during Old Home Week.

H. D. Wade, Emma's Wade and Allison Wade motored to Erie today on a business mission.

ing to be erected in Warren was the Carver House in 1919.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Jackson of Erie recently motored to Cleveland yesterday.

In 1930

When the Warren schools open next Tuesday morning for the fall term, the new Beauty building will be opened for use for the first time, and pupils in that section of the borough will be accommodated in one of the finest educational plants in this section.

The following from the local practice are expected to attend the annual convention of the National Federation of Teachers Association and Ladies Gown Association at Erie: Fred J. England, John Cole, Merle Ransom, Elmer Samuelson, Donald Pratt, Milton Danielson, D. L. Lacey, Marshall Johnson, Ed Larson, J. H. Anderson, Louis Garber, William Smith, Marshall Hansen, N. L. Arters and Richard Lauffenberger.

The new flag pole at the state armory will replace the flag from the Warren lodge of Elks this evening. Exalted Ruler George C. Sarvis will make the presentation and Hon. L. E. Chapman, of the armory board, will accept it.

A meeting of the Clarendon school board, county school officials and the citizenry was held last night for the purpose of arriving at some suitable conclusion as to whether or not Clarendon will maintain its high school this year. The pupils will probably be sent to Warren this fall.

Sixteen members of the Cone-wango Fishing Club arrived home from their camp at Lake Talon, Canada, last evening.

STORIES IN STAMPS

Harding's Death Marked By Special U. S. Issue

THE death of President Warren G. Harding at San Francisco on Aug. 2, 1923, was marked by the 2-cent U. S. memorial issue above, released at Marion, O., and Washington, D. C., Sept. 1, 1923. The stamp was printed in black, bore the dates of President Harding's birth and death. The issue was discontinued Feb. 24, 1924. The design was from the President's favorite profile photograph.

Warren G. Harding was an Ohio editor, had served in the state Senate, was lieutenant-governor for one term, and was elected by the U. S. Senate in 1915.

He was a "dark horse" candidate in the Republican convention of 1920, won the nomination when leading candidates Gen. Leonard Wood and Frank Lowden were unable to gain a majority. His "front porch" campaign, and a promise to lead the nation "back to normalcy" helped defeat another Ohioan, James M. Cox, in the election.

April: Black Days for Norway

In April came the oft-prophesied, but still unexpected Nazi invasion of Scandinavia. It followed by one day the mining of the Norwegian coastline by British to prevent iron ore shipments from eluding the blockade. Well prepared with troops stationed at strategic points, and aided by fifth columnists, Germany won quick victory, the coastline, and new bases for attack on Britain.

NAVY RECRUITS MORE MEN FROM THIS DISTRICT

Lieutenant Commander Eugene C. Burchett, U. S. Navy, officer in charge of the local Navy recruiting station, today announced the receipt of the quota of first enlistments to be enlisted in the Buffalo district during the month of September, 1940. Eighty-six young men from Buffalo and vicinity will be enlisted and commence their career as apprentice seamen. It is anticipated enlisting approximately twenty-two men each week during the month of September and transferring them immediately to the U. S. naval training station, Newport, Rhode Island, for an intensive training period lasting six weeks. The young recruits will then be granted ten days leave to visit their homes before being assigned to the various branches of the United States fleet.

Additional quotas may be assigned during the month depending upon the facilities of the four naval training stations to accommodate the increased quotas necessitated by the commissioning of the new destroyers and submarines being completed under the Navy's huge building program.

Young men between the ages of 18 and 31, unmarried, physically and mentally qualified, ambitious, patriotic and anxious to serve in the Navy of the United States are invited to visit the Navy recruiting station located at Room 22, Post Office Building, Jamestown, New York.

Need Furniture And Clothing For Couple Who Lost Dwelling

An appeal was issued today for donations of clothing and furniture to be given to Mr. and Mrs. John Dexter, elderly couple who lost all their possessions Thursday night when fire destroyed the Hemlock cottage which they were occupying.

Clothing for Mr. and Mrs. Dexter as well as furniture of all kinds are needed. Those having such articles to be given to the couple are asked to call the Davis Bakery.

Additional and more dependable power for airplane engines is obtained by a new ignition distribution system which utilizes chemically treated, dehydrated air, pumped at high pressure through the shielding cables.

POLITICAL FORUM

Articles appearing in this department are furnished by representatives of the respective parties in Warren county and are not intended to reflect the views or opinions of the publisher.

REPUBLICAN

One issue of the campaign which the administration will do its best to play down is the issue of political corruption as exemplified in the Democratic machines run by Mayor Hague of Jersey City and Mayor Kelley of Chicago. Much as the Administration would like to shrug away its association with these worthy gentlemen and others like them, it is dependent upon them for the votes it needs to remain in power.

Frank Murphy, when he was Attorney General, found out just how real was the tie between Roosevelt and the Messers Hague, Kelley et al. Murphy began his career by a so-called clean-up of the Pendergast machine in Kansas City. This activity had Roosevelt's tacit approval for the crusading Murphy was a good foil for the crusading young District Attorney of New York City, Thomas E. Dewey who was uncovering some unsavory tangles involving high Tammany officials.

Then Murphy turned toward Jersey City and the domain of Boss Hague. The administration was worried and rightly so, but not for long. A nice, quiet place was found for the zealous Mr. Murphy, a place on the Supreme Court, where he could work hard and forget all about Boss Hague and the horrors of Hudson County.

Mr. Murphy's successor, Robert H. Jackson, now attorney general, does not seem to share Mr. Murphy's zeal. In fact quite the opposite. He has turned a blind eye upon the evidence gathered by Mr. Murphy. To be sure corruption goes on in New Jersey, but it is very pleasant to be certain of the votes that will come rolling in for Roosevelt when Hague's men go to work. Boss Hague is happy too. And so too are all the bundsmen that New Jersey holds. They each have a vote. And votes are especially necessary this year.

The Kelly-Nash machine that controls Chicago (a city world-famous for its civic purity) and reaches out across the state of Illinois, is a beautiful example of the New Deal's faithful followers. Into Kelly's hands went the management of the spurious "Draft Roosevelt" bally-hoo in Chicago. The Attorney General, who ought to be preparing indictments against Mayors Kelley and Hague, is, instead, photographed chatting with them over a friendly luncheon.

And make no mistake about it, before this campaign is over Roosevelt will be defending his powerful friends. For there is no doubt that they have power and there is equally no doubt that they are equals of Mr. Roosevelt. Decent citizens of New Jersey and Illinois have tried to break the power of the bosses time and again. This year they are going to succeed, for the Bosses have cut their own throats by playing along with Roosevelt and Roosevelt has helped to cut his own throat by playing with them. This sheltering of corruption on the part of the Administration shows to what depths the New Deal will stoop to keep itself in power. These are the tactics of extravagant ambition and nothing more.

An army "shavetail" is a recently appointed second lieutenant.

DEMOCRAT

Wendell Willkie, Republican candidate for President, wearing the false face of liberalism, has been rusticated in the Middle West trying to softsoap the farmers and others and attempting to make them forget his Wall Street connections and his Fifth Avenue residence. He would like also to have loyal Republican workers and members of life-long devotion to that party to draw the veil of forgetfulness over the fact that only a short time ago he was a member of Tammany Hall and was elected to one of its committees.

But in spite of this false-fronting, Mr. Willkie will not be able to get away from his record which shows what his real beliefs are and what his chief aim in life is. This is revealed with startling clarity in a speech he made before the Economic Club of New York and the Harvard Business School Club in New York on January 21, 1935. To this assembly Mr. Willkie said: "No duty has ever come to me in my life, even that in the service of my country, which has so appealed to my sense of social obligation, patriotism and love of mankind as this—my obligation to say and do what I can for the preservation of public utilities privately owned."

Privately-owned utilities, with all their history of corrupting public officials and teachers, garroting independent newspapers and mulcting the public with extortionate rates and watered stocks, these and their interests Mr. Willkie puts on a level with service to his country, even above it!

In that same speech Mr. Willkie further revealed his true love by referring to Samuel Insull, the collapse of whose rotten utility empire brought ruin to thousands of credulous investors, as a "forceful, dynamic and attractive figure".

Speaking of public ownership and the right of the people to own and operate public services, Mr. Willkie said in the same address:

"All I have observed, all that I know and all that I read teaches me that I could do nothing nobler for the future financial stability and political good of my country or the social and economic well-being of my fellow citizens than to stand firm and unafraid against this foolish fad and fancy of the moment."

"The same polls which showed Landon a sure winner right up to election night four years ago now show Willkie the winner in November. The utility and holding company magnate will have a long, hard row to hoe between now and election day. By the time that day comes the American people will probably do just about as they did four and eight years ago—vote for security and integrity and Roosevelt."—Democratic (Oneida, N. Y.) Union (Dem.)

WIFE ON "SITDOWN" STRIKE

Philadelphia, Aug. 27.—(P)—While neighbors cared for her six-month-old son, Mrs. Nellie Kaminski sat today in her husband's automobile and declared she wouldn't budge until he agreed to come back and support her. The 17-year-old wife said she had to leave her apartment when her funds ran out. She began her "sit down strike" Sunday. Kaminski's mother said her son was out of work and had no money.

NAVY RECRUITS MORE MEN FROM THIS DISTRICT

Lieutenant Commander Eugene C. Burchett, U. S. Navy, officer in charge of the local Navy recruiting station, today announced the receipt of the quota of first enlistments to be enlisted in the Buffalo district during the month of September, 1940. Eighty-six young men from Buffalo and vicinity will be enlisted and commence their career as apprentice seamen. It is anticipated enlisting approximately twenty-two men each week during the month of September and transferring them immediately to the U. S. naval training station, Newport, Rhode Island, for an intensive training period lasting six weeks. The young recruits will then be granted today's leave to visit their homes before being assigned to the various men-of-war of the United States fleet.

Additional quotas may be assigned during the month depending upon the facilities of the four naval training stations to accommodate the increased quotas necessitated by the commissioning of the new destroyers and submarines being completed under the Navy's huge building program.

Young men between the ages of 18 and 31, unmarried, physically and mentally qualified, ambitious, patriotic and anxious to serve in the Navy of the United States are invited to visit the Navy recruiting station located at Room 22, Post Office Building, Jamestown, New York.

Need Furniture And Clothing For Couple Who Lost Dwelling

An appeal was issued today for donations of clothing and furniture to be given to Mr. and Mrs. John Dexter, elderly couple who lost all their possessions Thursday night when fire destroyed the Hemlock cottage which they were occupying.

Clothing for Mr. and Mrs. Dexter as well as furniture of all kinds are needed. Those having such articles to be given to the couple are asked to call the Davis Bakery.

Additional and more dependable power for airplane engines is obtained by a new ignition distribution system which utilizes chemically treated, dehydrated air, pumped at high pressure through the shielding cables.

POLITICAL FORUM

Articles appearing in this department are furnished by representatives of the respective parties in Warren county and are not intended to reflect the views or opinions of the publisher.

REPUBLICAN

One issue of the campaign which the administration will do its best to play down is the issue of political corruption as exemplified in the Democratic machines run by Mayor Hague of Jersey City and Mayor Kelley of Chicago. Much as the Administration would like to shrug away its association with these worthy gentlemen and others like them, it is dependent upon them for the votes it needs to remain in power.

Frank Murphy, when he was Attorney General, found out just how real was the tie between Roosevelt and the Messers Hague, Kelley et al. Murphy began his career by a so-called clean-up of the Democratic machine in Kansas City. This activity had Roosevelt's tacit approval, for the crusading Murphy was a good foil for the crusading young District Attorney of New York City, Thomas E. Dewey who was uncovering some unsavory tangles involving high Tammany officials.

Then Murphy turned toward Jersey City and the domain of Boss Hague. The administration was worried and rightly so, but not for long. A nice, quiet place was found for the zealous Mr. Murphy, a place on the Supreme Court, where he could work hard and forget all about Boss Hague and the horrors of Hudson County.

Mr. Murphy's successor, Robert H. Jackson, now attorney general, does not seem to share Mr. Murphy's zeal. In fact quite the opposite. He has turned a blind eye upon the evidence gathered by Mr. Murphy. To be sure corruption goes on in New Jersey, but it is very pleasant to be certain of the votes that will come rolling in for Roosevelt when Hague's men go to work. Boss Hague is happy too. And so too are all the bundsmen that New Jersey holds. They each have a vote. And votes are especially necessary this year.

The Kelly-Nash machine that controls Chicago (a city world-famous for its civic purity) and reaches out across the state of Illinois, is a beautiful example of the New Deal's faithful followers. Into Kelly's hands went the management of the spurious "Draft Roosevelt" bally-hoo in Chicago. The Attorney General, who ought to be preparing indictments against Mayors Kelley and Hague, is, instead photographing chatting with them over a friendly luncheon.

And make no mistake about it, before this campaign is over Roosevelt will be deefnding his powerful friends. For there is no doubt that they have power and there is equally no doubt that they are friends of Mr. Roosevelt. Decent citizens of New Jersey and Illinois have tried to break the power of the bosses time and again. This year they are going to succeed, for the Bosses have cut their own throats by playing along with Roosevelt and Roosevelt has helped to cut his own throat by playing with them. This sheltering of corruption on the part of the Administration shows to what depths the New Deal will stoop to keep itself in power. These are the tactics of extravagant ambition and nothing more.

Thompson's Borsoma Tablets

Often bring quick relief to sufferers from headaches, dizzy spells and miserable aches and pains. If your kidneys are not carrying off the body wastes and excess acid as they should you feel ill and cannot tell why. Thompson's Borsoma Tablets aid the kidneys in filtering out these poisons. They are effective and harmless, but bring relief with amazing comfort. 50c at all drug stores. If constipated take Golden Lax Tablets to assist the good work of Thompson's Borsoma Tablets.

DEMOCRAT

Wendell Willkie, Republican candidate for President, wearing the false face of liberalism, has been rusticated in the Middle West trying to softsoap the farmers and others and attempting to make them forget his Wall Street connections and his Fifth Avenue residence. He would like also to have loyal Republican workers and members of life-long devotion to that party to draw the veil of forgetfulness over the fact that only a short time ago he was a member of Tammany Hall and was elected to one of its committees.

But in spite of this false-fronting, Mr. Willkie will not be able to get away from his record which shows what his real beliefs are and what his chief aim in life is. This is revealed with startling clarity in a speech he made before the Economic Club of New York and the Harvard Business School Club in New York on January 21, 1935.

To this assembly Mr. Willkie said: "No duty has ever come to me in my life, even that in the service of my country, which has so appealed to my sense of social obligation, patriotism and love of mankind as this—my obligation to say and do what I can for the preservation of public utilities privately owned."

Private-owned utilities, with all their history of corrupting public officials and teachers, garrotting independent newspapers and mauling the public with extortionate rates and watered stocks, these and their interests Mr. Willkie puts on a level with service to his country, even above it!

In that same speech Mr. Willkie further revealed his true love by referring to Samuel Insull, the collapse of whose rotten utility empire brought ruin to thousands of credulous investors, as a "forceful, dynamic and attractive figure".

Speaking of public ownership and the right of the people to own and operate public services, Mr. Willkie said in the same address:

"All I have observed, all that I know and all that I read teaches me that I could do nothing nobler for the future financial stability and political good of my country or the social and economic well-being of my fellow citizens than to stand firm and unafraid against this foolish fad and fancy of the moment."

"The same polls which showed Landon a sure winner right up to election night four years ago now show Willkie the winner in November. The utility and holding company magnate will have a long, hard row to hoe between now and election day. By the time that day comes the American people will probably do just about as they did four and eight years ago—vote for security and integrity and Roosevelt."—Democratic (Oneida, N. Y.) Union (Dem.)

WIFE ON "SITDOWN" STRIKE

Philadelphia, Aug. 27.—(P)—While neighbors cared for her six-months-old son, Mrs. Nellie Kaminski sat today in her husband's automobile and declared she wouldn't budge until he agreed to come back and support her. The 17-year-old wife said she had to leave her apartment when her funds ran out. She began her "sit down strike" Sunday. Kaminski's mother said her son was out of work and had no money.

LIFE IS COMPLICATED—IN BERLIN
Next Sunday will mark the first anniversary of the European war. During this period many changes have come to life in Berlin. A story, written for the Special News Service of the Associated Press and the Times-Mirror, by Angus M. Thuermer, gives an interesting picture of what it means to live in the German capital today.

"Nearly a year of war has put the check-rein on normal civilian life in Germany," Thuermer says. "Restrictions necessary for the successful continuation of war activities pop out at you from the most unexpected corners."

"First of all, there's that blackout. Really most persons would feel sort of ashamed and theatrical—after spending 12 months in the evening dark—to have to step out under a brilliant street lamp."

"Eyes have become so accustomed to struggling around in the dark that the business in phosphorescent buttons has dropped off to nil."

"Then there is the taxi situation. Woe betide you if you get into a taxi without an iron-clad, double-barreled reason. Tired feet don't count. Rushing over to see a sick aunt might get you by—maybe, maybe."

"Now considering foods in restaurants—there is caviar and vodka to be had. At caviar and vodka prices, we mean. That's without food tickets, though, so it's something to consider."

"On the other hand, if you are thinking of sitting down in a restaurant, or out on the sidewalk cafe, and letting your phantasy roam, ordering the way you did 'way back in '38, you've got another thought coming. But the good burger is broken in to the meat, butter, bread and what-have-you coupons."

"The English censor lot of journals, too, they say, headed for the Reich."

"And one more thing about the black outs—if you're a second-story man and get caught practicing your profession in the blackout—it's no hemstitch-a-hanky for three months—they make you a head shorter."

"But on the whole the almost never failing Prussian ability to make things click keeps everybody smiling and every tummy full. The fact the 'fellow on the other side' may be having a few pinches here and there, too, makes everyone willing to hitch up the belt a couple of notches."

"It's war."

EATING MORE MEAT

Warren housewives may not realize it, but increased buying of beef and pork by them, along with a few million other women, has helped to lift the farm price of cattle to the highest level in three years and of hogs to the highest in almost a year.

Livestock men at Chicago say that business stimulation and employment resulting from the national defense program apparently are improving the meat consumer's buying power. They cite army maneuvers in various sections of the country as a factor in improved consumption.

On the other hand, housewives probably know better than any others that they are paying more for most meat cuts than they did a year ago. Retail prices at Chicago last week on the whole were the highest of the year. Wholesale pork loins are the highest since last September. Top loins of beef are said to be 25 per cent higher than a year ago.

National Guardsmen are home from three weeks' rigorous training. The boys are deserving of every consideration and of praise for their strenuous work in the defense problem on which they are engaged.

If you are in search of diversion to get your mind off world affairs, take a run down to Youngsville the next three days and attend the community fair.

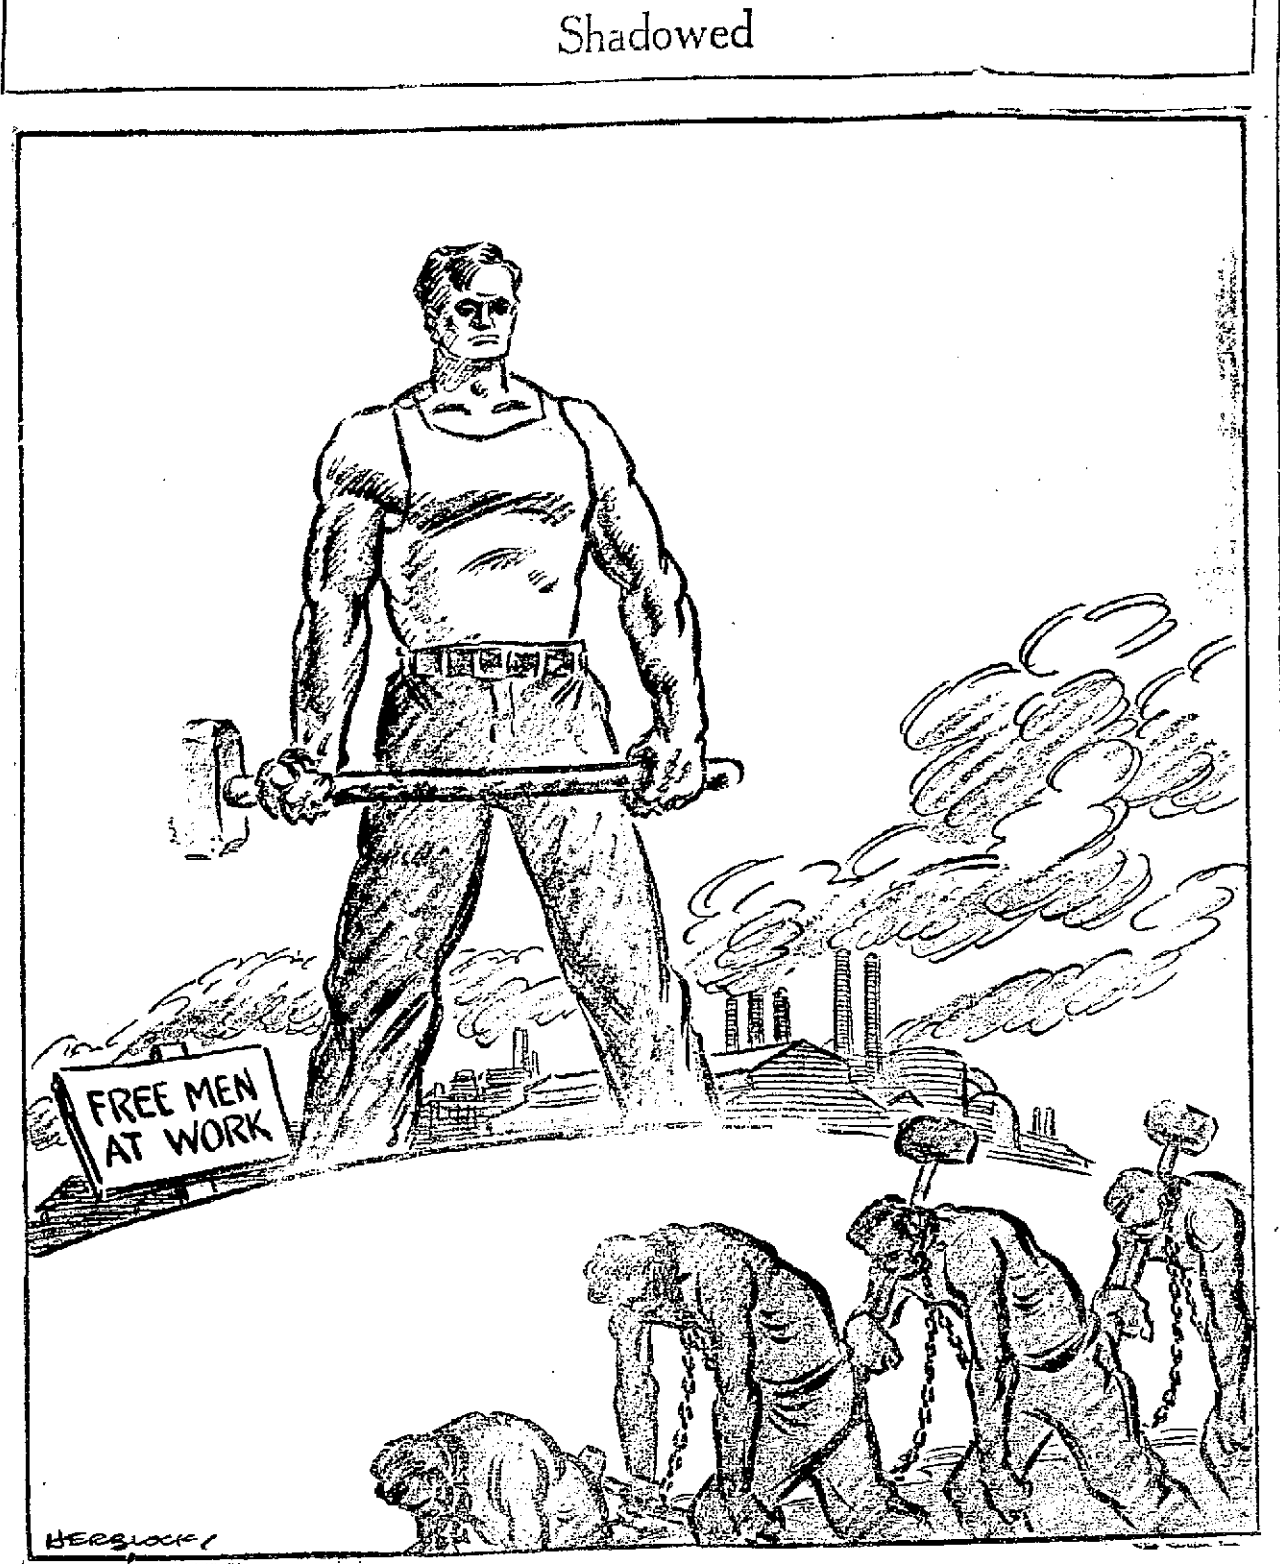

That accident at the Columbus underpass should be a warning to motorists who insist upon disregarding driving conditions and highway regulations.

Dispatches indicate that London could use some of that fog regarding which we used to read so much.

T-H-O-U-G-H-T-S

And the Lord will take away from thee all sickness, and will put none of the evil diseases of Egypt, which thou knowest, upon thee: but will lay them upon all them that hate thee.—Deuteronomy 7:15.

Serving God with our little, is the way to make it more; and we must never think that wasted with which God is honored, or men are best.—John Hall.

A Washington Daybook

By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON—Topics for a capital tea-party:

Jumbled politics.—Big Ed (Edmund M.) Toland, Democrat, one-time G-man, former assistant United States attorney general, and contributor to the Democratic party in 1932, winds up his job as general counsel of Virginia Rep. Howard W. Smith's committee investigating the National Labor Relations board and leaves Washington with a Willie button on his lapel.

Working without compensation, Toland has steered the committee through hearings which now total 26 volumes (eight to nine million words) and included examination of nearly a million documents.

He says his work is done, that his personal affairs need attention, that he is displeased that the administration has been lethargic to NLRB reforms (the Smith amendments to the National Labor Relations act passed the House more than two months ago, still are awaiting action in the Senate) and that he's going out to do anything he can, from making speeches to pushing doorbells for Willie.

Hopkins Loses Aide
ED NOBLE, Republican manufacturer of that candy with a hole, left a hole in Secretary Harry Hopkins' Department of Commerce when he resigned as undersecretary. Noble announced that he was returning to private life where he believed he "could better serve the defense program" than as chief departmental aide to Hopkins, who has been for some time one of the President's chief aides in matters political.

Although Hopkins held the reins in the presidential third term nomination at Chicago, political chatter has it that he is not continuing (as is customary) in the driver's seat and that Edward J. Flynn, new chairman of the Democratic National Committee, has let it be known that he doesn't want any back-seat driving from Hopkins or any other members of the New Deal inner circle.

Corcoran Starts Talk
TOMMY CORCORAN, the young ballad-singing Irish attorney, who has been second to Hopkins among New Dealers close to the White House, has gone off on a vacation. His going at this time is one of the favorite gossip topics at Washington tea parties.

The speculation runs these three ways: (1) That he definitely is out of favor at the White House and may not come back to Washington; (2) that he is going through another one of those periods of being temporarily in disfavor over some minor difference of opinion; (3) that he is NOT in disfavor at all and has only gone away for a while to rest up and figure out how best he can put his talents to use in the President's behalf between now and election.

Strange Things
ADD to all these factors these strange things: (1) Republican Presidential Candidate Wendell L. Willkie, a former Democrat, in his acceptance speech at Elwood, Ind., endorsed many of the New Deal objectives; (2) the Democratic vice-presidential candidate, Henry A. Wallace, is a former Republican, who once was publicly rebuked (by a White House spokesman) for declaring for a third term for Roosevelt; (3) President Roosevelt's cabinet contains two Republicans; (4) the National Defense Commission and its staff number many Republicans; (5) there have been many defections from the Democratic party recently; and (6) some New Dealers are saying that this is a good thing for the Democratic party and that the third term candidacy has accomplished for the party much that the 1938 purge was unable to do.

PUT all of these facts and speculations into a Washington drawing room, add a generous sprinkling of political kitzers, guessers and know-alls, and you'll understand why capital tea parties these days are a dissonant and confusing babble.

YEARS AGO IN WARREN

Interesting Items Taken From the Warren Evening Times

In 1920
Pennants and lights were strung through General Joseph Warren Park this morning by the decorators who are "dressing up" the town for the big celebration of Old Home Week, the 125th anniversary of Warren.

The Soda and Mineral Water Co., is moving into the new building just completed on Fourth avenue. The present quarters of the plant on Hickory street will probably be occupied by the New Process Company.

J. W. Elliott, county chairman of the Democratic party, today gave out a statement containing information for women who will vote for the first time this year.

Burgess Gregory has announced that throwing of confetti or other stuff of like nature will not be permitted during Old Home Week.

H. D. Wade, Emmons Wade and Allison Wade motored to Erie today on a business mission.

Old Stuff—The first brick building to be erected in Warren was the Carver House in 1819.

The Warren lodge of Elks this evening, Exalted Ruler George C. Servis will make the presentation and Hon. L. E. Chapman, of the army board, will accept it.

A meeting of the Clarendon school board, county school officials and the citizenry was held last night for the purpose of arriving at some suitable conclusion as to whether or not Clarendon will maintain its high school this year. The pupils will probably be sent to Warren this fall.

Sixteen members of the Conewago Fishing Club arrived home from their camp at Lake Talon, Canada, last evening.

Harding's Death Marked
By Special U. S. Issue

THE death of President Warren G. Harding at San Francisco on Aug. 2, 1923, was marked by the 2-cent U. S. memorial issue above, released at Marion, O., and Washington, D. C., Sept. 1, 1923. The stamp was printed in black, bore the dates of President Harding's birth and death. The issue was discontinued Feb. 24, 1924. The design was from the President's favorite profile photograph. Warren G. Harding was an Ohio editor, had served in the state Senate, was lieutenant-governor for one term, and was elected by the U. S. Senate in 1915.

He was a "dark horse" candidate in the Republican convention of 1920, won the nomination when leading candidates Gen. Leonard Wood and Frank Lowden were unable to gain a majority. His "front porch" campaign, and a promise to lead the nation "back to normalcy" helped defeat another Ohioan, James M. Cox, in the election.

Year of War—8th Month

April: Black Days for Norway

In April came the oft-prophesied, but still unexpected Nazi invasion of Scandinavia. It followed by one day the mining of the Norwegian coastline by British to prevent iron ore shipments from eluding the blockade. Well prepared with troops stationed at strategic points, and aided by fifth columnists, Germany won quick victory, the coastline, and new bases for attack on Britain.

LIFE IS COMPLICATED—IN BERLIN

Next Sunday will mark the first anniversary of the European war. During this period many changes have come to life in Berlin. A story, written for the Special News Service of the Associated Press and the Times-Mirror, by Angus M. Thuermer, gives an interesting picture of what it means to live in the German capital today.

"Nearly a year of war has put the check-rein on normal civilian life in Germany," Thuermer says. "Restrictions necessary for the successful continuation of war activities pop out at you from the most unexpected corners.

"First of all, there's that blackout. Really most persons would feel sort of ashamed and theatrical—after spending 12 months in the evening dark—to have to step out under a brilliant street lamp.

"Eyes have become so accustomed to struggling around in the dark that the business in phosphorescent buttons has dropped off to nil.

"Then there is the taxi situation. Woe betide you if you get into a taxi without an iron-clad, double-barreled sicken. Tired feet don't count. Rushing over to see a sick aunt might get you by—maybe, maybe.

"Now considering foods in restaurants—there is caviar and vodka to be had. At caviar and vodka prices, we mean. That's without food tickets, though, so it's something to consider.

"On the other hand, if you are thinking of sitting down in a restaurant, or out on the sidewalk cafe, and letting your phantasy roam, ordering the way you did 'way back in '38, you've got another thought coming. But the good burger is broken in to the meat, butter, bread and what-have-you coupons.

"The English censor lot of journals, too, they say, headed for the Reich.

"And one more thing about the black outs—if you're a second-story man and get caught practicing your profession in the blackout—it's no hemstitch-a-hanky for three months—they make you a head shorter.

"But on the whole the almost never failing Prussian ability to make things click keeps everybody smiling and every tummy full. The fact the "fellow on the other side" may be having a few pinches here and there, too, makes everyone willing to hitch up the belt a couple of notches.

"It's war."

EATING MORE MEAT

Warren housewives may not realize it, but increased buying of beef and pork by them, along with a few million other women, has helped to lift the farm price of cattle to the highest level in three years and of hogs to the highest in almost a year.

Livestock men at Chicago say that business stimulation and employment resulting from the national defense program apparently are improving the meat consumer's buying power. They cite army maneuvers in various sections of the country as a factor in improved consumption.

On the other hand, housewives probably know better than any others that they are paying more for most meat cuts than they did a year ago. Retail prices at Chicago last week on the whole were the highest of the year. Wholesale pork loins are the highest since last September. Top loins of beef are said to be 25 per cent higher than a year ago.

National Guardsmen are home from three weeks' rigorous training. The boys are deserving of every consideration and of praise for their strenuous work in the defense problem on which they are engaged.

If you are in search of diversion to get your mind off world affairs, take a run down to Youngsville the next three days and attend the community fair.

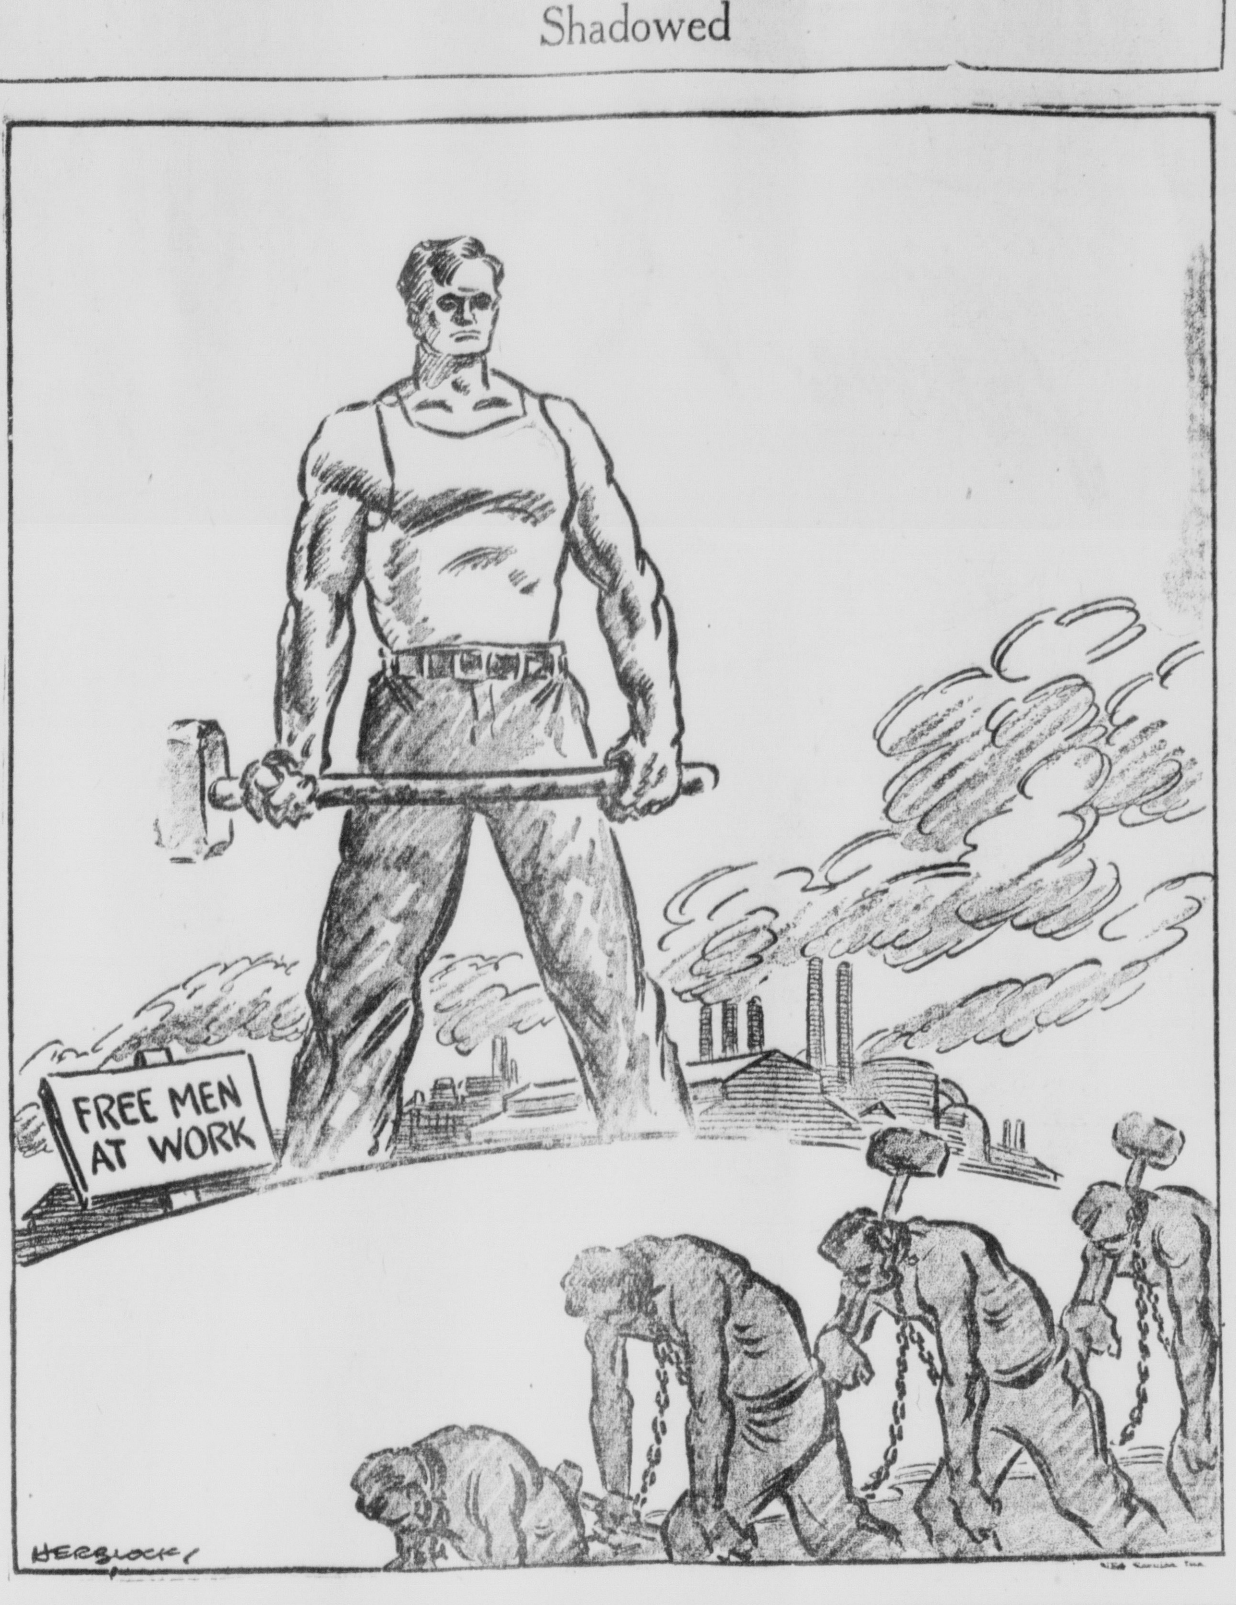

That accident at the Columbus underpass should be a warning to motorists who insist upon disregarding driving conditions and highway regulations.

Dispatches indicate that London could use some of that fog regarding which we used to read so much.

T-H-O-U-G-H-T-S

And the Lord will take away from thee all sickness, and will put none of the evil diseases of Egypt, which thou knowest, upon thee; but will lay them upon all them that hate thee.—Deuteronomy 7:15.

Serving God with our little, is the way to make it more; and we must never think that wasted with which God is honored, or men are blessed.—John Hall.

A Washington Daybook

By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON—Topics for a capital tea-party:

Jumbled politics—Big Ed (Edmund M.) Toland, Democrat, one-time G-man, former assistant United States attorney general, and contributor to the Democratic party in 1932, winds up his job as general counsel of Virginia Rep. Howard W. Smith's committee investigating the National Labor Relations board and leaves Washington with a Willie button on his lapel.

Working without compensation, Toland has steered the committee through hearings which now total 26 volumes (eight to nine million words) and included examination of nearly a million documents.

He says his work is done, that his personal affairs need attention, that he is displeased that the administration has been lethargic in NLRB reforms (the Smith amendments to the National Labor Relations act passed the House more than two months ago, still are awaiting action in the Senate) and that he's going out to do anything he can, from making speeches to pushing doorbells for Willie.

Hopkins loses aide
ED NOBLE, Republican manufacturer of that candy with a hole left a hole in Secretary Harry Hopkins' Department of Commerce when he resigned as under-secretary. Noble announced that he was returning to private life where he believed he "could better serve the defense program" than as chief departmental aide to Hopkins, who has been for some time one of the President's chief aides in matters political.

Although Hopkins held the reins in the presidential third term nomination at Chicago, political chatter has it that he is not continuing (as is customary) in the driver's seat and that Edward J. Flynn, new chairman of the Democratic National Committee, has let it be known that he doesn't want any back-seat driving from Hopkins or any other members of the New Deal inner circle.

Strange Things
ADD to all these facts these strange things: (1) Republican Presidential Candidate Wendell L. Willkie, a former Democrat in his acceptance speech at Elwood, Ind., endorsed many of the New Deal objectives; (2) the Democratic vice-presidential candidate, Henry A. Wallace, is a former Republican, who once was publicly rebuked (by a White House spokesman) for declaring for a third term for Roosevelt; (3) President Roosevelt's cabinet contains two Republicans; (4) the National Defense Commission and its staff number many Republicans; (5) there have been many defections from the Democratic party recently; and (6) some New Dealers are saying that this is a good thing for the Democratic party and that the third term candidacy has accomplished for the party much that the 1938 purge was unable to do.

PUT all of these facts and speculations into a Washington drawing room, add a generous sprinkling of political kibitzers, guessers and know-alls, and you'll understand why capital tea parties these days are a dissonant and confusing babble.

Interesting Items Taken From the Warren Evening Times

In 1920
Pennants and lights were strung through General Joseph Warren Park this morning by the decorators who are "dressing up" the town for the big celebration of Old Home Week, the 125th anniversary of Warren.

The Soda and Mineral Water Co., is moving into the new building just completed on Fourth avenue. The present quarters of the plant on Hickory street will probably be occupied by the New Process Company.

J. W. Elliott, county chairman of the Democratic party, today gave out a statement containing information for women who will vote for the first time this fall.

Burgess Gregory has announced that throwing of confetti or other stuff of like nature will not be permitted during Old Home Week.

H. D. Wade, Emmons Wade and Allison Wade motored to Erie today on a business mission.

Old Stuff—The first brick building to be erected in Warren was the Carver House in 1849.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Jackson of Fifth avenue motored to Cleveland yesterday.

In 1930
When the Warren schools open next Tuesday morning for the fall term, the new Beatty building will be opened for use for the first time, and pupils in that section of the borough will be accommodated in one of the finest educational plants in this section.

The following from the local postoffice are expected to attend the annual convention of the National Federation of Post Office Clerks and Letter Carriers Association at Erie: Fred Greenlund, John Cole, Merle Rowley, Elmer Samuelson, Donald Foster, Milton Danielson, D. L. Lacey, Marshall Johnson, Ed Larson, J. F. Smith, Louis Garber, William Anderson, Marshall Hansen, N. L. Arters and Richard Laufenberger.

NAVY RECRUITS MORE MEN FROM THIS DISTRICT

Lieutenant Commander Eugene C. Burchett, U. S. Navy, officer in charge of the local Navy recruiting station, today announced the receipt of the quota of first enlistments to be enlisted in the Buffalo district during the month of September, 1940. Eighty-six young men from Buffalo and vicinity will be enlisted and commence their career as apprentice seamen. It is anticipated enlisting approximately twenty-two men each week during the month of September and transferring them immediately to the U. S. naval training station, Newport, Rhode Island, for an intensive training period lasting six weeks. The young recruits will then be granted ten days' leave to visit their homes before being assigned to the various men-of-war of the United States fleet.

Additional quotas may be assigned during the month depending upon the facilities of the four naval training stations to accommodate the increased quotas necessitated by the commissioning of the new destroyers and submarines being completed under the Navy's huge building program.

Young men between the ages of 18 and 31, unmarried, physically and mentally qualified, ambitious, patriotic and anxious to serve in the Navy of the United States are invited to visit the Navy recruiting station located at Room 22, Post Office Building, Jamestown, New York.

POLITICAL FORUM

REPUBLICAN

One issue of the campaign which the administration will do its best to play down is the issue of political corruption as exemplified in the Democratic machines run by Mayor Hague of Jersey City and Mayor Kelley of Chicago. Much as the Administration would like to shrug away its association with these worthy gentlemen and others like them, it is dependent upon them for the votes it needs to remain in power.

Frank Murphy, when he was Attorney General, found out just how real was the tie between Roosevelt and the Messers Hague, Kelley et al. Murphy began his career by a so-called clean-up of the Pendergast machine in Kansas City. This activity had Roosevelt's tacit approval, for the crusading Murphy was a good foil for the crusading young District Attorney of New York City, Thomas E. Dewey who was uncovering some unsavory tangles involving high Tammany officials.

Then Murphy turned toward Jersey City and the domain of Boss Hague. The administration was worried and rightly so, but not for long. A nice, quiet place was found for the scoundrel Mr. Murphy, a place on the Supreme Court, where he could work hard and forget all about Boss Hague and the horrors of Hudson County.

Mr. Murphy's successor, Robert H. Jackson, now attorney general, does not seem to share Mr. Murphy's zeal. In fact quite the opposite. He has turned a blind eye upon the evidence gathered by Mr. Murphy. To be sure corruption goes on in New Jersey, but it is very pleasant to be certain of the votes that will come rolling in for Roosevelt when Hague's men go to work. Boss Hague is happy too. And so too are all the bundsmen that New Jersey holds. They each have a vote. And votes are especially necessary this year.

The Kelly-Nash machine that controls Chicago (a city world-famous for its civic purity) and reaches out across the state of Illinois, is a beautiful example of the New Deal's faithful followers. Into Kelly's hands went the management of the spurious "Draft Roosevelt" bally-hoo in Chicago. The Attorney General, who ought to be preparing indictments against Mayors Kelley and Hague, is, instead, photographed chatting with them over a friendly luncheon.

And make no mistake about it, before this campaign is over Roosevelt will be defending his powerful friends. For there is no doubt that they have power and there is equally no doubt that they are friends of Mr. Roosevelt. Decent citizens of New Jersey and Illinois have tried to break the power of the bosses time and again. This year they are going to succeed, for the Bosses have cut their own throats by playing along with Roosevelt and Roosevelt has helped to cut his own throat by playing with them. This sheltering of corruption on the part of the Administration shows to what depths the New Deal will stoop to keep itself in power. These are the tactics of extravagant ambition and nothing more.

DEMOCRAT

Wendell Willkie, Republican candidate for President, wearing the false face of liberalism, has been rustivating in the Middle West trying to softsoap the farmers and others and attempting to make them forget his Wall Street connections and his Fifth Avenue residence. He would like also to have loyal Republican workers and members of life-long devotion to that party to draw the veil of forgetfulness over the fact that only a short time ago he was a member of Tammany Hall and was elected to one of its committees.

But in spite of this false-fronting, Mr. Willkie will not be able to get away from his record which shows what his real beliefs are and what his chief aim in life is. This is revealed with startling clarity in a speech he made before the Economic Club of New York and the Harvard Business School Club in New York on January 21, 1935.

To this assembly Mr. Willkie said: "No duty has ever come to me in my life, even that in the service of my country, which has so appealed to my sense of social obligation, patriotism and love of mankind as this—my obligation to say and do what I can for the preservation of public utilities privately owned."

Privately-owned utilities, with all their history of corrupting public officials and teachers, garroting independent newspapers and mulcting the public with extortionate rates and watered stocks, these and their interests Mr. Willkie puts on a level with service to his country, even above it!

In that same speech Mr. Willkie further revealed his true love by referring to Samuel Insull, the collapse of whose rotten utility empire brought ruin to thousands of credulous investors, as a "forceful, dynamic and attractive figure".

Speaking of public ownership and the right of the people to own and operate public services, Mr. Willkie said in the same address:

"All I have observed, all that I know and all that I read teaches me that I could do nothing nobler for the future financial stability and political good of my country or the social and economic well-being of my fellow citizens than to stand firm and unafraid against this foolish fad and fancy of the moment."

"The same polls which showed London a sure winner right up to election night four years ago now show Willkie the winner in November. The utility and holding company magnate will have a long, hard row to hoe between now and election day. By the time that day comes the American people will probably do just about as they did four and eight years ago—vote for security and integrity and Roosevelt."—Democratic (Oneida, N. Y.) Decent citizens of New Jersey and Illinois have tried to break the power of the bosses time and again. This year they are going to succeed, for the Bosses have cut their own throats by playing along with Roosevelt and Roosevelt has helped to cut his own throat by playing with them. This sheltering of corruption on the part of the Administration shows to what depths the New Deal will stoop to keep itself in power. These are the tactics of extravagant ambition and nothing more.

Thompson's Borsoma Tablets

Often bring quick relief to sufferers from headaches, dizzy spells and miserable aches and pains. If your kidneys are not carrying off the bodily wastes and excess acid as they should you feel ill and cannot tell why. Thompson's Borsoma Tablets aid the kidneys in filtering out these poisons. They are effective and harmless, but bring relief with amazing comfort. 50c at all drug stores. If constipated take Golden Lax Tablets to assist the good work of Thompson's Borsoma Tablets.

DEMOCRAT

Wendell Willkie, Republican candidate for President, wearing the false face of liberalism, has been rusticated in the Middle West trying to softsoap the farmers and others and attempting to make them forget his Wall Street connections and his Fifth Avenue residence. He would like also to have loyal Republican workers and members of life-long devotion to that party to draw the veil of forgetfulness over the fact that only a short time ago he was a member of Tammany Hall and was elected to one of its committees.

But in spite of this false-fronting, Mr. Willkie will not be able to get away from his record which shows what his real beliefs are and what his chief aim in life is. This is revealed with startling clarity in a speech he made before the Economic Club of New York and the Harvard Business School Club in New York on January 21, 1935.

To this assembly Mr. Willkie said: "No duty has ever come to me in my life, even that in the service of my country, which has so appealed to my sense of social obligation, patriotism and love of mankind as this—my obligation to say and do what I can for the preservation of public utilities privately owned."

Privately-owned utilities, with all their history of corrupting public officials and teachers, garrotting independent newspapers and mauling the public with extortionate rates and watered stocks, these and their interests Mr. Willkie puts on a level with service to his country, even above it!

In that same speech Mr. Willkie further revealed his true love by referring to Samuel Insull, the collapse of whose rotten utility empire brought ruin to thousands of credulous investors, as a "forceful, dynamic and attractive figure".

Speaking of public ownership and the right of the people to own and operate public services, Mr. Willkie said in the same address: "All I have observed, all that I know and all that I read teaches me that I could do nothing nobler for the future financial stability and political good of my country or the social and economic well-being of my fellow citizens than to stand firm and unafraid against this foolish fad and fancy of the moment."

"The same polls which showed Landon a sure winner right up to election night four years ago now show Willkie the winner in November. The utility and holding company magnate will have a long, hard row to hoe between now and election day. By the time that day comes the American people will probably do just about as they did four and eight years ago—vote for security and integrity and Roosevelt."—Democratic (Oneida, N. Y.) WIFE ON "SITDOWN" STRIKE

Philadelphia, Aug. 27.—(P)—While neighbors cared for her six-month-old son, Mrs. Nellie Kaminski sat today in her husband's automobile and declared she wouldn't budge until he agreed to come back and support her. The 17-year-old wife said she had to leave her apartment when her funds ran out. She began her "sit down strike" Sunday. Kaminski's mother said her son was out of work and had no money.

The "Season" Opens Early at Biarritz

September has always been the "smart" season for bathing at Biarritz, great French resort on the Bay of Biscay. The season opened early this year, but the international smart set that made Biarritz famous was missing. The gaily striped cabanas where they donned bathing suits are "replaced by crowds of German soldiers, who, like those above, joined local folk for a swim."

Pattern 1493

BY ANNE ADAMS

With the busiest season of the year looming ahead, the smart housewife will be wise to put in a good supply of aprons. Pattern 1493 by Anne Adams is a simple style that makes several "covers-ups." There are two neckline versions; one a low V-shape; the other a higher, squared-off style. A pointed, bias-cut waist-girdle gives you that smart, whittled look; the skirt is nicely full and you will take special pride in the back, with the straps held securely in place by a buttoned halter. Try a version with girdle, sash and pockets all in a bright contrast. This pattern is easy to use with the Sewing Instructor's help.

Pattern 4493 is available in sizes small (32-34), medium (36-38), and large (40-42). Small sizes take 2 3/8 yards 35 inch fabric and 1 1/2 yards ruffling.

Send FIFTEEN CENTS (15c) in coins for this Anne Adams pattern. Write plainly SIZE, NAME, ADDRESS and STYLE NUMBER.

Three cheers for the ANNE ADAMS FALL AND WINTER PATTERN BOOK—just off the press. It's right in key with the American spirit of freedom and individuality. Grange Notes

FARMINGTON GRANGE CHANGES MEETING
The regular meeting of the Farmington Grange has been advanced to Thursday, August 29, because of the community fair dates and members are asked to keep the change in mind.

At the second August meeting, a communication was read from the Pennsylvania Grange secretary Miles Horst, urging appointment of a membership committee in order to secure new members for the order. Charles Swanson was reported ill.

The program consisted of readings by Arline Reed and Annabel Wilcox, and a discussion on current topics led by Grant Sears and Herman Reed. Each member responded to roll call by naming one thing the United States can do to secure peace. The program closed with group singing.

Theresa R. Scalise And Carl Vavala Are United in Marriage

At nine o'clock Saturday morning in St. Joseph's church, Rev. Father Edward Jacobs read the service and celebrated the nuptial mass which united in marriage Miss Theresa R. Scalise, daughter of Anthony Scalise, 815 West Fifth avenue, and Carl Vavala, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Vavala, 703 West Fifth avenue.

Miss Evelyn Armstrong, organist played the traditional wedding music and accompaniments for Miss Josephine R. Lucia, soloist.

Escorted and given in marriage by her father, the bride was gown in white satin, princess style, and her long, flowing veil held with a tiara of seed pearls. Her arm bouquet was of white roses and baby's breath with steamers.

Miss Lucy V. Scalise, cousin of the bride, wore aqua taffeta trimmed with peach ribbon and tilted turban of peach tulle taffeta ribbon and rosebuds. Her bouquet was of Tahsman roses. The bridesmaid, Miss Rose Vavala, sister of the bridegroom, wore peach and aqua taffeta ribbon trim and a tilted turban of aqua flowers and ribbon. Her bouquet was of Tahsman roses also.

Joseph Manno was the best man and the usher was Bruno Vavala brother of the bridegroom.

After the ceremony, breakfast for the bridal couple was served at the home of the bride's aunt, Mrs. Josephine Scalise. The wedding dinner was served at the Liberty Club, with places for 200 guests. There were 17 seated at the bride's table which was prettily decorated with summer flowers and centered with a three-tiered wedding cake. Later in the evening, music for dancing was provided by McCune's Orchestra.

For going away, the bride chose a black and white silk frock and black accessories. After a wedding trip they will be at home at 413 Laurel street. The bride attended local schools and Mr. Vavala is employed at the Busy Bee Restaurant.

COURT THURSDAY
Sessions of court will be held here Thursday and Friday, Judge D. U. Arrid presiding.

FALL FROM PORCHES
Two Warren county residents were treated at the Warren General Hospital yesterday for fractures received in the same manner—falling from their porches while hanging up clothes. Miss Sadie Lawson, of Sheffield, and Mrs. Millie Harper, of Akeley, were the victims of the falls and were discharged after treatment.

BEFORE JUSTICE
Ten motorists who failed to pay fines for parking violations were arraigned today before Justice of the Peace T. Richard Evans in traffic court, on a summons issued after they had not paid a visit to the borough secretary's office when red tickets had been left on their cars. Although by borough ordinance, ignoring the ticket is punishable by a fairly large fine or imprisonment in the county jail or both, in most instances the traffic violators were fined five dollars and costs.

STILL IN HOSPITAL
The five persons injured in automobile accidents near Warren Saturday and Sunday are still patients in the hospital it was reported today, with their conditions just about the same. None is seriously injured. They are: Melvin G. Keller, 17 Jackson avenue, Mrs. George Giegeher, Warren R. D., and Miss Hazel Proper of Youngsville, all injured when their cars were struck by a tractor-trailer near the Lily Pond, David Passinger, of Chanders Valley, who suffered a broken leg when his car overturned on Conewango Avenue Extension, and Mrs. Eliza Messinger, of Pittsfield who received injuries to her back and shoulder in a two-car crash on Pennsylvania avenue, east.

I have decided to take a break from the Look-of-the-Moon League and its various activities. I am no longer a member and will not be participating in any of its events. I am sorry to hear of the difficulties the League is facing and hope for a successful future. I am, however, a devoted fan of the Times-Mirror and will continue to support it in every way I can. I am also a member of the local 4-H club and will continue to participate in its activities. I am a very busy person and do not have time to devote to the League. GIRDLE-APRON HAS BACK NEWS

BY ANNE ADAMS

With the busiest season of the year looming ahead, the smart housewife will be wise to put in a good supply of aprons. Pattern 4493 by Anne Adams is a simple style that makes several gay "cover-ups". There are two neckline versions; one a low V-shape; the other a higher, squared-off style. A pointed, bias-cut waist-girdle gives you that smart, whittled look; the skirt is nicely full and you will take special pride in the back, with the straps held securely in place by a buttoned sash. Try a version with girdle, sash and pockets all in a bright contrast. This pattern is easy to use with the Sewing Instructor's help.

Pattern 4493 is available in sizes small (32-34), medium (36-38), and large (40-42). Small sizes take 2 3/8 yards 35 inch fabric and 1 1/4 yards ruffling.

Send FIFTEEN CENTS (15c) in coins for this Anne Adams pattern. Write plainly SIZE, NAME, ADDRESS and STYLE NUMBER.

Three cheers for the ANNE ADAMS FALL AND WINTER PATTERN BOOK—just off the press. It's right in key with the American spirit of freedom and individuality. There are vivacious, youngest styles—wardrobes for career girl and collegiate, a home-maker modes. You'll see tailored wear, stunning afternoons, and a "full-dress parade" for evening. A department is devoted to slimming frocks; another to lingerie and accessories. Order your copy NOW!

BOOK FIFTEEN CENTS. BOOK AND PATTERN TOGETHER TWENTY-FIVE CENTS.

Grange Notes

FARMINGTON GRANGE CHANGES MEETING

The regular meeting of the Farmington Grange has been advanced to Thursday, August 29, because of the community fair dates and members are asked to keep the change in mind.

At the second August meeting, a communication was read from the Pennsylvania Grange secretary, Miles Horst, urging appointment of a membership committee in order to secure new members for the order. Charles Swanson was reported ill.

The program consisted of readings by Arline Reed and Annabel Wilcox, and a discussion on current topics led by Grant Sears and Herman Reed. Each member responded to roll call by naming one thing the United States can do to secure peace. The program closed with group singing.

Theresa R. Scalise And Carl Valava Are United in Marriage

At nine o'clock Saturday morning in St. Joseph's church, Rev. Father Edward Jacobs read the service and celebrated the nuptial mass which united in marriage Miss Theresa R. Scalise, daughter of Anthony Scalise, 815 West Fifth avenue, and Carl Valava, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Valava, 703 West Fifth avenue.

Miss Evelyn Armstrong, organist, played the traditional wedding music, and accompaniments for Miss Josephine R. Lucia, soloist. Exalted and given in marriage by her father, the bride was gowned in white satin, princess style, and her long, flowing veil was held with a tiara of seed pearls. Her arm bouquet was of white roses and baby's breath, with streamers.

Miss Lucy V. Scalise, cousin of the bride, wore aqua taffeta trimmed with peach ribbon and tilted turban of peach tulle, taffeta ribbon and rosebuds. Her bouquet was of Talisman roses. The bridesmaid, Miss Rose Valava, sister of the bridegroom, wore peach net with aqua taffeta ribbon trim, and a tilted turban of aqua flowers and ribbon. Her bouquet was of Talisman roses, also.

Joseph Manno was the best man and the usher was Bruno Valava, brother of the bridegroom. After the ceremony, breakfast for the bridal couple was served at the home of the bride's aunt, Mrs. Josephine Scalise. The wedding dinner was served at the Liberty Club, with places for 200 guests. There were 17 seated at the bride's table, which was prettily decorated with summer flowers and centered with a three-tiered wedding cake. Later in the evening, music for dancing was provided by McCune's Orchestra.

For going away, the bride chose a black and white silk frock and black accessories. After a wedding trip, they will be at home at 413 Laurel street. The bride attended local schools and Mr. Valava is employed at the Busy Bee Restaurant.

Pre-nuptial affairs were given by Mrs. Rose Bevevino, aunt of the bride, and Lucy V. Scalise.

VFW Auxiliary-Post Planning Activities

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Veterans of Foreign Wars has plans under way for two pleasing functions of the near future that will include memberships of both the post and auxiliary.

On Thursday night of this week, a corn and Weiner roast for both organizations is to be held at Weldbank, members meeting at the home of Mrs. Louis Vicini at eight o'clock. Each one is asked to bring weiners, buns, corn and any other article of food they desire.

The second gathering is to be in the nature of a party honoring Gold Star Mothers, to take place at the post rooms on Thursday evening, September 12. This is the auxiliary's regular meeting date and, in addition to a brief business meeting, there will be a tureen dinner and a program of entertainment. Announcement of detailed plans will be made at a later date.

Invitations Issued For Wedding in Kane

Invitations have been issued by Mr. and Mrs. John V. Longshore, of Kane, for the marriage of their daughter, Miss Katherine Longshore, to David A. Smith, Jr., son of Dr. and Mrs. D. A. Smith, 111 West Fifth avenue, Warren.

The wedding will take place on Saturday, September 14, at the home of the bride's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Edmund McDade, 29 Pine avenue, Kane, with a reception following.

BIRTHS

A CORRECTION

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Reynolds, 822 Fourth avenue, are the parents of a son, weighing eight pounds and thirteen and one-quarter ounces, born at 5:14 a. m. Monday. It was incorrectly stated in Monday's issue that the parents were Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Phillips.

PAR SHATTERED IN FIRST ROUND OF PGA TOURNEY

By JUDSON BAILEY

Associated Press Sports Writer

It's a tough task to shake baseball's league leaders out of the treacherous August, even when they look ripe for a fall.

The Cleveland Indians, who once this season gained the American League lead by losing four straight, seemed in danger of dropping off their precarious perch in the throes of another four-game losing streak last weekend.

But they stopped it yesterday by edging out the Washington Senators 4-3 while both the second-place Detroit Tigers and third-place New York Yankees were kept idle by rain. As the result of this opportune triumph the Indians increased their advantage over the Tigers to three games and over the Yankees to six.

Meanwhile the Cincinnati Reds split a double bill with the Philadelphia Phillies without harming their 7½ game advantage in the National League. The Dodgers were rained out.

All of which goes to show that it isn't the short winning or losing streaks, it's the long haul that counts.

Cleveland's conquest of the Senators was made possible by Bob Feller, although he didn't get credit for the game. The fireballer went to the rescue of Mel Harder in the seventh and shut out the Senators in the last three stanzas.

Bucky Walters pitched and batted the Reds to a 3-2 victory in their first game. He held the tail-enders to five hits and batted in two of Cincinnati's own runs, one with a homer. It was Bucky's 18th win.

Sylvester Johnson, the 39-year-old combination coach and pitcher for the Phils, then retained in the nightcap with a three-hit performance that left the Reds gasping.

Carl Hubbell, who at 37 is working harder than a lot of baseball youngsters, made his third appearance in four days and saved the New York Giants a 10-5 verdict over the Chicago Cubs.

Another relief showing was that of Boston's Jim Bagby in helping the Red Sox to a 7-6 decision over the St. Louis Browns. He allowed only two hits in the last 6 2-3 innings.

The Boston Bees threw more water on the St. Louis Cardinals' conflagration by winning a night game 3-1 with Rookie Nic Strincevich hurling five-hit ball.

LEO BLAMES SELF FOR MEDWICK SLUMP

Pittsburgh, Aug. 27.—(P.)—Manager Leo Durocher of the Brooklyn Dodgers says he's to blame for the batting slump of his pal, Joe Medwick.

"I put him back in the lineup too soon after that beating by Bob Bowman ten weeks ago," Durocher said.

"The doctor warned me to rest him longer, but Joe insisted he was all right and I shoved him right back in four days. I was wrong. He's going better now and I'm going to keep him in there against all types of pitching."

Medwick, who never has batted less than .305 in ten seasons in organized baseball, now has an average of .281.

SOOSE WILLING TO MEET CHAMPS AGAIN

Pittsburgh, Aug. 27.—(P.)—Billy Soose, the "uncrowned" middleweight champion, says he's anxious to do the job up brown and fight Ken Overlin and Tony Zale all over again—with their titles at stake.

In fact, the Farrell boy said that is the only condition under which he will box them again.

Soose won the nickname "uncrowned champ" because he defeated both Overlin, recognized middleweight titlist in New York, and Zale, the N.E.A. middleweight king—in non-title fights.

EBEL'S WIN FIRST GAME OF SERIES

Ebel's Service Station boys won the first game of the North Warren Softball League series last night by topping the West Penn 8 to 7. Reddiecliff and Pierce made up the winning battery with Updegraff and Cruickshank the losing combination.

A feature of the tilt was a long home run by Jim Cruickshank, of Ebel's, which was the margin of victory.

The next series game is carded for Wednesday.

Football Under Arcs Gains In Popularity Throughout The State

Philadelphia, Aug. 27.—(P.)—The players there like it, they report, because they can escape the heat after noon sun.

The Williamsport area, particularly, is cool to the idea. School authorities object to what they call "commercialism." They are in a discussion with York over the hour of this year's game. The Roses want to play their home game Friday night. Williamsport prefers Saturday afternoon.

Night ball is very popular in Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Erie and Johnstown.

Johnstown High first stung up lights against Meadville in Point Stadium in 1929. Now virtually all the other schools in the area have joined the parade. Westmont, Fernvale, Conemaugh, Franklin Borough and Johnstown Central, Catholite.

Other schools playing night football include Monongahela, State College, Frackville, Mineville, Pottsville, Shenandoah, Mt. Carmel, Coaldale, Coal Township, Tazewell, Hanover, Hershey, Sunbury.

YOU'LL FIND classified ads very interesting—Read them every day.

If Frank Sifanni and his pals have their way, we may see some football on Sunday afternoons, after all, and it may turn out to be a pretty fair brand of grid fare at that. The club won't have any erstwhile All-Americans on it, perhaps, but at least the boys will be playing because they like to play football, and that should just about counterbalance the vacancies in the highly-touted player department. Personally, we would prefer to watch eleven huskies performing for the very pleasure they derive from competition than to see a high class exhibition by a club whose players are speeding through the game to get in line for the pay envelope.

Your agent has taken plenty of verbal and written abuse for piling the laurel wreaths on the brow of Johnny Ferguson, who played tackle for the Red Jackets last year. It was pointed out to us in no uncertain terms that Joe Whatzis and Fred Whozat could play rings around Ferguson in the line, and that just because Johnny was such a nice fellow was no reason for his getting a lot of publicity. Well, it may interest our critics to learn that the sticks of type relating to Ferguson were inspired not by his personality and not entirely by his ability, but because he gave the fans 60 minutes of football, playing with such a fervor and evident enjoyment that paying him off was a pleasure which is more than the paymaster used to express when some of the Saturday night wonders showed up for the folding money.

Ferguson, who is now working in Texas, is the type of ballplayer that the local fans gladly shell out to watch, and there were others who also gave everything they had while on the field. That is the brand of ball usually displayed by scholastic, collegiate and semi-pro players, and may be expected if the local sandlotiers get organized tomorrow night. Most of the boys will be from this city, but it will be necessary to import some out-of-town talent who will be willing to play for a season cut. Among the visiting celebrities who have signified their intention of trying out is Art Giancotti, plunging Bradford back who started on the Owl eleven last season. Art was a visitor to our office Saturday afternoon and informed us that his running mate Joe Pascarella, is bound for the University of Alabama, and that he himself hopes to enter college later in the year.

YEARS AGO IN SPORTS

August 27, 1920—There will be something doing tonight on the South Side diamond when the Butter Krusts will meet the No. 1 plant team of the Conewango Refining Company. There is something mysterious about the wager, but the sports editor was unable to learn the nature of it. Chuck Farrell will pitch for the Refiners, with Christensen behind the plate and Col. U. G. Lyons playing first base. For the Krusts it will be Anderson or Johnson, with Place being saved for Brookville.

August 27, 1930—The Julianos are not unbeatable. Last night they figured they had the old game in the bag with Joe Brubaker pitching one-hit ball against Gibby Johnson's All Stars for six innings but in the last three Gibby's boys began to hit and won out 9 to 8. Hutchings hauled for the winners and was very wild, but some ardent fielding by Sammy Hicks and Rasmussen saved the bacon. Peace played a brilliant game, catching and directing the Julianos, and got three safe hits, including a double and a triple. Burns had a pair of doubles for the winners.

TROUBLE SHOTS

Golf trouble shots spell the difference between low scores and the heart breaking sevens and eights that send you on to the next tee with that "to heck with it" feeling and may cause you to play several sloppy shots before the zeal of scoring returns to you. So for that alone, it is well worth your while to practice and take lessons on these tough recovery shots, for as you know when one comes out well and you see that look of pain on your opponent's face, the world is bright and you go on and on playing better even than you know how.

So let's try that one out of the deep grass on the slope of a sand trap, first we must stand unevenly our left foot is higher but we must try to get firmly set. The right foot is slightly advanced, in other words, an open stance so that the arms may clear the body and you can get a full follow through. You may not be thoroughly comfortable for you're not a mountain goat, but take your time and get set as well as possible for this shot, it is not to be hurried.

Since the ball is deep in the grass open your blade slightly and hit down crisply and go on to the next hole. The grass between the ball and the blade will cause a bit of run so allow for it and practice this shot at least twenty times the next time you go out, not that you will perfect it that quickly but having practiced it it won't give you those mental yips the next time you're in that spot.

Football Under Arcs Gains In Popularity Throughout The State

Philadelphia, Aug. 27.—(P)—Football under lights, which made its debut about a decade ago in Pennsylvania scholastic games, is still gaining momentum.

A survey completed today, as the gridirers buckled down to the second day of pre-season conditioning, showed the matinee game as a day played in losing its grip in virtually every section of the state.

Gettysburg and Carlisle are among the high schools which added lighting plants to their athletic equipment this year. And the Warren school board, which opposes all night ball, related to permit the team to play two night games away, at Bradford and Oil City.

Increased receipts is generally agreed upon as the motive for football under lights, more than offsetting the original investment, which in Pottsville and Erie cost $3,000.

Bill Breslin, Pottsville High's athletic director, put it this way: "Our attendance has gone up 300 per cent. The fans like it. The players like it."

At Waynesboro, receipts doubled in the two seasons of owl ball.

The players there like it, they report, because they can escape the hot afternoon sun.

The Williamsport area, particularly, is cool to the idea. School authorities object to what they call "commercialism." They are now in a discussion with York over the hour of this year's game. The Roses want to play their home game Friday night. Williamsport prefers Saturday afternoon.

Another For National

The National League, which has been walking off with a lot of the honors this year, has added another. Jimmy Wilson's return to the box scores as an active player, gives the Reds the only father-and-son catching combination in the majors. Young Robert is summing with the Reds as batting practice catcher.

Grayson's SCOREBOARD

Saratoga in August Still a Racing Institution With $440,000 Average Mutuel Handle Farther Proving That Everybody Isn't Exactly Broke

By HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Service Sports Editor

OLD Saratoga, which got off to a slow start this season, has come through like Challeon in the stretch under the pari-mutuel form of wagering.

For a time it was feared that the bigger bettors who went to the Springs would not take kindly to the machines. . . would hesitate to knock down their own prices.

But it now may safely be predicted that the average daily handle of the first meeting at the Spa with the iron men in action will be something like $440,000, which is a higher figure than that turned in by tracks in the heart of Chicago Boston and Baltimore.

Attendance for the first three weeks exceeded that of a year ago by more than 25,000, and should come close to topping the 1939 total of 230,000 for 30 days by 50,000.

NEW JERSEY opposition in 1941 would hurt some, of course, but the success of the current meeting is ample evidence that Saratoga's future as a major racing center is secure. President George Bull and others vitally interested were not so sure of that at the outset.

The handle at Saratoga and Washington Park on a corresponding Saturday was $774,000 and $534,000, respectively. The average for the last meetings at Arlington Park and Pimlico was $390,000. Narragansett's average is $385,000, and the recently concluded meeting at Suffolk Downs, one of the best ever staged in New England, averaged $374,000.

Tropical Park averaged $400,000 last winter. Rockingham averages $300,000, and Delaware park a little less than that.

HANDY to so many people, it was natural for New York tracks to do vastly more in their first whirl with the mutuels. Belmont Park's average was $693,966, Empire City's $676,366, Aqueduct's $594,443, and Jamaica's $585,857.

The only strips doing a comparable business are Santa Anita with an average of more than $600,000, Hialeah Park with $583,000, and Hollywood Park with $535,000. This may largely be attributed to the fact that Santa Anita and Hialeah have a virtual monopoly on winter racing on opposite sides of the continent, while Hollywood Park has southern California, and the movie field to itself in the summer.

But in furnishing additional evidence that everybody in the country isn't exactly broke, Saratoga isn't doing badly for a layout 'way out in the sticks.

There'll be no change in the plan of racing to affect it seriously, Saratoga and August will remain a racing institution.

conscription and National Guard bills.

Senator Connally (D-Tex.) said he would attempt to restrict exemptions from military service now granted members of congress and other administrative officials of federal, state and local governments.

Scheduling the second night session of the week, Senator Barkley (D-Ky.) predicted passage of the measure—in a form calling for immediate conscription of manpower—before the day's end.

The majority leader told reporters he was confident that the senate would reject by "comfortable" margins all three proposals to postpone conscription and send the Burke-Wadsworth measure to the house in about the form it stood when debate began today.

Working until 10 p. m. (EST) last night, while packed galleries looked on, the chamber wrote into the measure a dozen amendments, some only technical and clarifying but others that imposed restrictions on the use of men conscripted for service.

Chief of these was an amendment by Senator Lodge (R-Mass.) to limit the peacetime conscripts to the western hemisphere. The chamber voted down, 39 to 32, a proposal by Senator Clark (D-Mo.) to narrow the service area to the continental United States and American possessions.

Previously, the senate adopted a compromise proposal by Lodge which fixed 900,000 as the maximum number of conscripts to be in training at any one peacetime period.

Lodge's proposal restricting service to the western hemisphere conformed to a similar provision in legislation authorizing the president to order the National Guard and army reserves into active service.

Taking the Guard legislation as a model, the senate proceeded to approve other amendments moulding the conscription bill along similar lines.

Hundreds Dead in Rumanian Border Clash

day and lasted several hours. It was resumed yesterday.

A foreign military attache at Bucharest who wrote the dispatches estimated that more than 300 Rumanian soldiers were slain.

Just two months ago Rumania bowed to a Russian ultimatum, agreeing to cede to the Soviet Union Bessarabia and northern Bucovina.

As the Russians marched in early in July to take over their gains there were clashes between the retiring Rumanians and Soviet troops.

Dorohoi is closed to the new border formed by the Bessarabia and Bucovina cessations.

The fighting was said to have occurred when Soviet troops crossed the border into Rumania. They were understood to have penetrated deeply before being forced back. The clash was said to have involved Rumanian troops being sent to Transylvania.

Four Russian warplanes which flew over Rumanian territory were attacked by six Rumanian pursuit ships, two of which were shot down, these sources said.

scription and National Guard bills. Senator Connally (D-Tex.) said he would attempt to restrict exemptions from military service now granted members of congress and other administrative officials of federal, state and local governments.

Scheduling the second night session of the week, Senator Barkley (D-Ky.) predicted passage of the measure—in a form calling for immediate conscription of manpower—before the day's end.

The majority leader told reporters he was confident that the senate would reject by "comfortable" margins all three proposals to postpone conscription and send the Burke-Wadsworth measure to the house in about the form it stood when debate began today.

Working until 10 p. m. (EST) last night, while packed galleries looked on, the chamber wrote into the measure a dozen amendments, some only technical and clarifying, but others that imposed restrictions on the use of men conscripted for service.

Chief of these was an amendment by Senator Lodge (R-Mass.) to limit the peacetime conscripts to the western hemisphere. The chamber voted down, 39 to 32, a proposal by Senator Clark (D-Mo.) to narrow the service area to the continental United States and American possessions.

Previously, the senate adopted a compromise proposal by Lodge which fixed 900,000 as the maximum number of conscripts to be in training at any one peacetime period.

Lodge's proposal restricting service to the western hemisphere conformed to a similar provision in legislation authorizing the president to order the National Guard and army reserves into active service.

Taking the Guard legislation as a model, the senate proceeded to approve other amendments moulding the conscription bill along similar lines.

day and lasted several hours. It was resumed yesterday.

A foreign military attaché at Bucharest, who wrote the dispatches estimated that more than 300 Rumanian soldiers were slain.

Just two months ago Rumania bowed to a Russian ultimatum, agreeing to cede to the Soviet Union Bessarabia and northern Bucovina.

As the Russians marched in early in July to take over their gains there were clashes between the retiring Rumanians and Soviet troops.

Dorohol is closed to the new border formed by the Bessarabia and Bucovina sections.

The fighting was said to have occurred when Soviet troops crossed the border into Rumania. They were understood to have penetrated deeply before being forced back. The clash was said to have involved Rumanian troops being sent to Transylvania.

Four Russian warplanes which flew over Rumanian territory were attacked by six Rumanian pursuit ships, two of which were shot down, these sources said.

BEATY SCHOOL SITE OF NEXT BAND CONCERT

An advance of a half hour in the starting time has been announced for the concert by the Veterans of Foreign Wars band, to be played next Wednesday evening on the lawn of the Beaty school. The concert will be started at 7 p. m. because of the shortening daylight period.

Plans to have another ice cream social for the benefit of the Red Cross War Relief Fund at this concert have been dropped, due to the unseasonable weather. However, the concert will be given as scheduled, weather permitting.

This concert will feature two special instrumental numbers, J. Harold Gustafson, of Jamestown, national high school champion on trumpet in 1932 and now, among other musical activities director of the Warren Salvation Army band, will play a solo. Arthur Lindell and Donald Branstrom, members of the Russell High School band, will play a trumpet duo, with their director, Byron Swanson, conducting the V. F. W. band for the accompaniment of this number.

The Men Behind the Gun

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

In a recent visit to Washington Park, the writer noted with dismay, that the bronze plaque marking the natural boulder erected on the site in 1932, is being ruthlessly used as a target by some person or persons who must be lacking in patriotism and in civic pride.

Much sacrifice of time and money was necessary in order that this slightly spotted boulder, marking the untiring efforts and patriotic devotion of Mrs. S. E. Walker, Washington Park became a reality. It was she who conceived the idea of a picnic ground on an eminence overlooking our beautiful city where all might go and enjoy nature's beauty and the matches of the surrounding wooded hills.

Following the acquisition of the land through the generosity of twelve public-spirited citizens headed by Charles T. Conarro, Mrs. Walker's zeal overcame the obstacles of lack of money, opposition of planning and hard work. The Park was formally dedicated on August 9, 1932 with impressive ceremonies and the unveiling of the bronze tablet. This accomplishment was sponsored by several women's patriotic societies under the inspiration of Mrs. Walker, then regent of Kanoogaa Chapter, Daughters of the American Colonists. This dedication was the only noteworthy local participation in the nationwide celebration of the birth of George Washington. The names of the donors are engraved on the brass plaque under a fine base-reel which has been mutilated by shots fired by some miscreants.

As a society, the Daughters of the American Colonists deplore the malevolent defacement of this lasting memorial, and ask that you print this appeal that in the future such malefaction may be prevented.

Alice E. Still,
Regent Kanoogaa Chapter

R. E. D. No. 1, Warren, Pa., August 26, 1940.

Warren Evening Times, Warren, Pa.

Gentlemen:

Last winter just after the deer season The Pittsburgh Press had a query in its All Outdoors question department, as to why the Game Commission did not establish an open season on deer if it wanted to reduce the herd, to which John Mock, rightfully replied that an open season was undesirable because it killed too many hunters. His column stated that the Board had decided "never again" after the last one.

Yet now we are to have two weeks of what amounts to practically an open season.

What's the matter with our Game Commission? Have they forgotten or are they blind? Do they want to reduce our deer herd at the expense of some hunters' lives? Surely the deer hunting sportsmen do not want their lives endangered unnecessarily.

Also the statement was made in a following issue that the Commission would not again close some counties and open others because of the concentration of hunters in open counties. Warren County is in that concentrated area. A great number of deer were killed here last year. Excited hunters blazed away and a large percentage got their deer and sometimes one for their less fortunate buddy.

Last winter also was very hard and despite the aid of some real sportsmen many deer starved. This lessened our herd even more. Personally, I do not believe our deer are too numerous, yet now we are to have our third straight deer season and a dandy at that. Two whole weeks of practically unrestricted shooting.

Yes, I know you are not supposed to shoot spike bucks but in a deer season there is an alarming number of nimrods who shoot on sight at what appears to be a doe. They do not all scrutinize the head for those little horns.

I do not regard the doe as a sacred animal and am wholly in favor of balancing our herd. However separate seasons for each sex deer would accomplish this and still give the bucks and hunters a break.

A Warren County Hunter.

MEMORY OF THE MOON

by Jeanne Bowman

YESTERDAY: Constance persuades reluctant Judge Franck to reveal the Taylors' plans. They want to make the ranch into a dairy farm.

Chapter 11

Friendly Enemy

CONSTANCE thought quickly of a dairy ranch, that was something she could run. And Michael had changed, ergo, she would adjust herself.

"Judge," she smiled at the old man mistily, "tell me about dairying and why you think it the thing."

"Surely," agreed the old man, thinking only what an adorable child she was with her blue-black hair and sapphire blue eyes. "With the railroad running through the ranch, you have means of getting your products to market without double handling. Your acres are extensive enough for dairy herd grazing because much of the food is prepared with which is supposed to stimulate your herds to produce the maximum quantity of milk."

"Your markets are more stable. The populace consumes a comparatively definite amount of milk products, butter, cream and cheese. You don't go into a competitive market, but sell to a central depot, from where the bulk is distributed."

Constance nodded. It sounded very simple. You merely exchanged your beef cattle for cows, sold their milk in gallon cans, instead of on the hoof. . . and the cows were still on the ranch, instead of having to be replaced.

"I wonder," she mused, "how much the Taylors were counting on investing in the turn-over?"

"Twenty thousand," answered the judge, promptly, then looked at his watch. "Hm, this talking of beef has certainly given me an appetite. Let's get us a steak."

Twilight was blurring the square when they left the office building. The narrow street where Dolores' friends lived, and where Dolores was happily engaged in gossiping, was dull gray.

But when they came out on the waterfront, Constance saw that the sun had left splotches of yellow on the incoming fog, and below it the olive-green waters of the bay heaved restlessly.

The cafe was low-ceilinged, filled with roughly clad men, a few women and a thick curtain of smoke.

Judge Franck introduced Constance to everyone they encountered as "Michael Mahoney's offspring."

Cattleman, dairy men, seamen, loggers and railroad men bowed to Constance, and then the Judge came to a table where sat a large woman who looked as though she had stepped out of an English hunting print.

"Here's someone who can tell you all about dairying," the Judge said.

They joined this Mrs. MacKelvey, and as they dined on succulent steak, crisp French fries and fragrant coffee, Constance listened, looked and marveled.

The woman was the personification of vitality. Her features were strongly cast but totally at variance with the slender, well-groomed hands. "I know," she laughed as she saw Constance looking at her hands. "I was a musician, then when Mac died I had to take over. Beef cattle were out in this section, so I took to dairying."

In the end she invited Constance to visit her for a day or so. "Though I warn you," she said, "if there's a drop of the old Mick's blood in your veins, you'll never be the same after that visit."

And then through the haze of smoke, Constance saw a man come into the cafe and wondered at the way life quickened its beat; at the sudden aura of romance which spread over the dusky room.

Double Power

"DETE, old fellow," "Hi Pedro," "Taylor!" Voices shouted a welkin of greeting and hands reached out to clasp his, or pull him towards their table.

"Now what," asked Constance of the judge, to stifle her disturbance, "brings Pedro here?"

Franck pushed his platter back with a sigh of contentment. "Probably looking for information," he answered.

"If you ever want to know anything elucidated," Mrs. MacKelvey, "come in here and let the other fellow do the talking."

Constance barely heard her. Taylor was making his way towards their table. His eyes, with some unfathomable expression, were meeting hers. How was she to treat him? He had become her enemy. And more than that he held double power, for she had to guard herself against this bewildering response of her heart to the man, as well as guard against the shrewdness of his mind.

What had Michael Mahoney done, how had he fought such friendly enemies? The Judge had told her, chuckling: "He threw them off-guard with his affability until he had them in a corner."

Constance smiled at Peter Taylor. "Hi, Pedro," she greeted.

"Hi, Michael," he answered.

"Sit down, son, sit down," urged Mrs. MacKelvey. "What brings you to town of an evening?"

Taylor nodded at Constance.

"Miss Cabrillo. I thought it would be easier to pick her up, whole, in Beachport, than to face Min if she ran Tim's car over the cliff."

Constance turned to Mrs. MacKelvey. "How you widows do arouse the protective instinct in the male of the species."

The woman laughed. "That my dear, was self protection. Tim's Min has a complex over her car. It's the only thing that runs that she hasn't been able to drive."

"Which reminds me," offered Pedro. "Min's brother is in town and he'll take the car home and save you the trouble of leaving from Fuller's Junction."

"I suppose," returned Constance sweetly, "it will be easier to keep track of me if I have no car at my disposal."

"Judge," Taylor addressed himself to the old man, "did you ever before hear a woman admit she needed watching?"

In the end, Constance agreed to be driven home. She had dreaded the ordeal, and when they picked up Dolores that woman's face was ludicrous with its expression of relief.

A two-hour drive in clear weather was a three-hour drive in the heavy fog; three hours, cut off from the rest of the world by a milk white curtain; three hours of enchantment.

Dolores, warmed by visiting-wine and a blanket, curled up in the back seat and slept soundly. Constance, warmed as much by the forethought as by the great polo coat of Meg's, sat watching Pedro's hands on the wheel, his Indian profile with lines of strength, or was it cruelty, from nostril to the outer corner of his lip.

She had a moment of smug satisfaction in finding that his profile didn't give the impression of startling perfection that his full face gave, and then, disturbed, she found in its rude fearlessness something more devastating to her morale.

"Warm enough?" Without looking at her he reached over to tuck her hands under the rug and give them a scolding pat, and Constance wondered if it were possible for a human heart to jump to one's throat and lodge there.

"Don't Fight" REBELLIOUSLY Constance withdrew her hands and laid them, small and white, on top of the seat.

He looked at her then. "Don't fight, Conchita."

"Don't fight?" Hot anger splashed her cheeks. How did he know? The conceit of him; the insufferable egotism of him. She'd make a catechism of all that Sam and Min had said. She'd say it over her hour-bus hour, particularly Min's parting words: "prettier girls than you."

"... next time," she noticed he was swinging the car back to the center of the road, sharply. "I'll have Dolores sit up here with me. She doesn't take my mind off the road."

There was balm in that, a small measure of triumph. Constance tucked her hands under the robe. Perhaps she was different from these coeds, these "prettier girls." Perhaps Pedro hated this something between them as much as she.

And she thought, with something akin to horror: "If I felt this way about John, I would care about the family; I wouldn't care about being solvent and meeting him on his own ground."

Miles later she wondered why John, who was everything fine and true and honorable, gave her only a feeling of comfort and security and dependability. But those were the qualities one needed in marriage. They were enduring.

"Pedro," she reasoned, "is like too many cocktails and there's always a morning after."

Pedro held her hand as he helped her from the car at the ranch house. "If you don't want me to drive you around, you can ask Julian for a boy," he advised.

Constance looked away quickly, wondering if her eyes had told him she did want him to drive her always. . . but she would be eternally blessed if she'd have him.

"When MacKelvey's place," he continued, "is out of Fuller's Junction."

"How did you know?" she flashed.

"Have ways," he retorted, laughing. "And now that you know our plans for the ranch, what are you going to do?"

"Call on your wags for that answer," she laughed. "What were you really doing in Beachport?"

"Tomorrow you'll know," he promised.

Dolores greeted her the moment she stirred, and Constance, aware of a golden day, sensed, rather than heard a stir about the ranch.

"Today," advised Dolores, coming to the bed with a tray, "we have Fiesta del toro. Already your guests begin to arrive. You should now hurry, señorita, to greet them."

"Of yesterday," she poured an amber stream of coffee into a turquoise cup. "Señor Pedro have invited them. And he have brought you by Meg's measurements, the clothes that you shall wear."

The tray jiggled as Constance sat straighter. Fiesta meant feast, toro meant bull; together they meant a bacchanal.

You are predisposed to a cold any time you undergo strong emotional strain, such as that when watching a love drama.

Man About Manhattan

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—Dr. Rudolf Kagey admits that Kurt Steel, the author of mystery novels, gets in his hair.

Dr. Kagey is a professor at New York university. He is an Illinois boy of Swiss extraction, who occupies himself with writing such classical items as histories of British Idealism. He has been on this chore now for five years and expects that it will take another five years before it is complete. This he says tartly, is the fault of Kurt Steel, the mystery writer, interferes seriously with Kagey, the defender of British idealism. How come?

Well, Steel's last book was a chiller called "Dead of Night." And Kagey read it. Actually, he lived it. He couldn't get it out of his mind. On those nights when he should have been polishing his treatise on a more classical plane, he was debating the wisdom of thrillers with Steel. They pestered each other. They denounced each other. Now and then they clasped hands warmly, and slapped each other on the back. Nevertheless, there was evidence of conflict. Steel, himself, began to feel that Kagey was a not altogether satisfactory influence on his mystery writing.

Kagey swallowed and shut up. He mumbled a sort of apology. Seeing his chance a few moments later, he retrieved his hat and left the room.

But his apology did not satisfy the woman editor who continued a militant verbal defense of Mr. Steel after Kagey had departed.

But then, after all, you couldn't blame her. Not a single literary person in that group had seen fit to point out to her that Kagey and Steel were the same person.

The only international chain of American-Chinese restaurants in the world is operated by Mrs. Ruby Foo, a diminutive Chinese from San Francisco. She has restaurants in New York, Boston, London and, of course, at the New York World's Fair. During her off hours Mrs. Foo goes in for solo flying.
